Claim U Thant Has New Terms From Hanoi to Initiate Talks

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — In a meeting arranged with help from Soviet and French ambassadors, a mission from Hanoi has given U Thant North Vietnam's terms for starting peace talks, diplomatic sources say.

The U.N. secretary-General confirmed today that he had met in Rangoon this week with a top North Vietnamese representative but declined to give any details. He said he would make a statement about the meeting on his departure from Rangoon later today.

Two Conditions

The diplomatic sources said Friday Hanoi's two principal conditions were immediate suspension of U.S. bombing of North Vietnam and de-escalation of the U.S. military effort in Vietnam.

The terms were reportedly contained in a personal message that Hanoi's representative brought from President Ho Chi Minh to Thant.

The sources described the message as Ho's final and irrevocable terms.

The first official report of the meeting came Friday night from Gen. Le Tung Sun, North Vietnamese consul-general. He said Thant had met with Col. Ha Van Lau, his government's chief representative to the International Control Commission and leader of the North Vietnamese mission. Sources close to Thant said he felt the disclosure was premature and could hurt his efforts for peace.

The conference, the first of its kind between Thant and top North Vietnamese representatives from Hanoi, came about after diplomatic moves said to have involved Soviet Ambassador Alexei Rodionski and French Ambassador Rene Philippe Yves Millet.

Thant said earlier in the week both sides in the war held "less rigid" attitudes toward peace talks than they had a year ago. Before today, he had said he was in his native Burma only for a week's vacation.

Urges Vigilante Corps Here to Combat Crimes

Organization of a vigilante committee as a means of cooperating with police agencies in this city and other Ulster County communities to combat crime and to try stem a wave of burglaries that have occurred in recent weeks, is planned by local businessmen.

A spokesman for the organizers emphasized to a Freeman reporter that it is not the intent of the group to interfere with operations of regular police units in the city or the county, but to assist in apprehending would-be burglars by means of night patrols.

Arrange Meeting

Frances H. Fatum of Fatum's Taxi and the Fatum Ambulance and Oxygen Service, Inc., of 227 Clinton Avenue, whose establishment has been victimized twice this year by burglars, and Joseph E. Scott, a Wall Street businessman, have arranged a public meeting.

Police Chief Robert F. Murphy, who had been advised Friday by Fatum of the plans for a public meeting, emphasized today that "we are doing everything possible to cope with the situation." He added, "I respectfully request that any citizen who hears any unusual noise or sees any suspicious acting person to immediately notify police. We will have men on the scene within minutes after a call is received at headquarters".

The chief also pointed out that police cannot disclose the progress of investigations or other confidential details of the work of detectives or uniformed men, because of the possibilities of definite interference in such investigations.

"I would be available at any time to confer with a committee to discuss any plan that would aid in the prevention of crime in our city," Chief Murphy said.

Meeting Is Open

Fatum and Scott said all merchants, gasoline station operators, factory officials and interested persons are urged to attend the meeting slated for Thursday night, March 9 in the Common Council Chambers at City Hall.

"We hope that upwards of 200 persons will attend this meeting and express their views and ideas on proposals to immediately band together and formulate a plan that might block the future acts of criminally-minded persons in this city," Fatum said.

"There is an urgent need for safety and security for all citizens of Kingston and Ulster County," Fatum said. "We all have some good ideas, but we need to be definitely certain that they are fully utilized. A concerted effort to combat crime will be discussed at the meeting Thursday."

Police are still investigating a break-in at Fatum's offices on Clinton Avenue discovered last Sunday. The place had been entered through an overhead door after a glass had been broken and replaced with a piece of cardboard. A burglary at Fatum's on Jan. 12 netted $175 in cash. That entry is still unsolved.

Getting Bolder

"They are getting bolder," Fatum said as he referred to burglars. "Last weekend they broke into my place despite a bright street light that illuminated the front of the building. They didn't sneak through alleys or backyards."

"The fight on crime calls for a number of things, such as utilizing the civilian community for manpower," Scott said. He is president of the Ulster County Safety Council. "One area police officer suggested a vigilante group of 400 to report any and all unusual activities around homes or business places to police agencies."

Fatum and Scott noted that there has been ample time for local authorities to find a solution to the outbreak of burglaries and added "but still the crime rate is going up in this area."

"Homes, schools, cars, stores, gas stations and factories are burglarized with regularity," Scott said. "Women are robbed of pocketbooks by day as well as night. We must re-examine our entire community protection strategy in the changing nature of crime statistics."

The sponsors of the vigilante corps plan contend that this area, with many businesses and factories" need not be fearful of break-ins or physical violence such as the Dietz murder." They added, "If we continue to drag our feet in halting the crime wave then we'll have chaos. We favor action now."

Plan for Schools

Suggestions were advanced that school officials should decide on a plan designed to protect school buildings against invasion by vandals and burglars, independent of the outcome of the vigilante plan.

Fatum and Scott suggested that business people and citizens should approach the vigilante committee proposal "intelligently, not emotionally."

The meeting Thursday night will not be confined only to city businessmen and factory officials. Any merchant, gas station operator or citizen in the county may attend the session and express their views on steps that might be taken to combat crime in the area, Fatum explained.

To Outline Role Of Hudson River Valley Unit Here

The role of the Hudson River Valley Commission in promoting economic development and planning will be outlined in Kingston this week by Alexander Aldrich, executive director of the commission.

Aldrich will address a meeting Tuesday 8 p. m. at Masonic Temple, 31 Albany Avenue sponsored by Kingston Lodge 10 F & AM.

The talk will climax a busy day for Aldrich, who has scheduled a series of meetings with local officials, business and civic groups in the Kingston area.

The well-known Chatham Center resident will also address the Tuesday noon Kingston Lions Club session on the topic at Gov. Clinton Hotel.

Aldrich will explain the commission's role in promoting economic development and in coordinating planning along the Hudson River. He will also give a preview of the commission's proposed project review procedures which will be submitted to public hearings next month.

In connection with the commission's interest in historic site preservation, Aldrich noted the fine work that had been done by Masonic groups in preserving such Hudson Valley landmarks as the De Windt House in Rockland County. At present the commission is making every effort to save the river's historic lighthouses and support from the citizens of the area will be needed in this undertaking.

DST Ruling Effective On April 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — The law requiring all states to observe daylight saving time goes into effect April 1, but 18 House members are fighting a last-ditch battle to win exemptions.

They have introduced bills to alter, in various ways, the law putting all of the nation's clocks one hour ahead of regular time from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October every year.

Expect No Action

But there seems little prospect for action on any of the proposals by April 1. The House Commerce Committee, which has jurisdiction over such legislation, has no hearings scheduled.

Under the new law, any state may exempt itself from daylight saving time, but only if it exempts the entire state. None has acted so far, the Interstate Commerce Commission reports.

The law poses special problems for 12 states which are in more than one time zone.

In Michigan, for example, the Upper and Lower peninsulas are in different time zones but have managed to stay on the same time by keeping the Upper Peninsula on Central Daylight Time and the Lower Peninsula on Eastern Standard Time.

Under the new law, the state would be breaking the law by maintaining the present arrangement.

Drafted Proposals

So four Michigan House members, Republican Reps. Gerald R. Ford, Charles Chamberlain, Philip E. Ruppe and James Harvey, have introduced proposals to permit any state to put all of itself into one time zone.

Rep. J. Edward Roush, a Democrat from Indiana — another state split by two time zones — wants to make it possible for part of a state to be exempted from daylight saving time. A similar proposal was pa- by the Senate last year but rejected by the House.

Other states in more than one time zone are Kentucky, Tennessee, North Dakota, South Kansas, Idaho, Utah and Oregon.

Kentucky also has another problem, and all seven of its congressmen have tried to meet it. The legislature has not been in session to keep the state on standard time, and Gov. Edward L. Breathitt has refused to call a special session.

Exempt Kentucky

Report 477th U. S. Aircraft Downed Over North Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S. Air Force F4C Phantom jet was downed over North Vietnam Friday night and its two crewmen are missing, a U.S. military spokesman announced today.

The plane was the 477th reported lost over the north.

The loss came as bad weather held American pilots to 79 strikes over the north, but Air Force bombers sank a 200-foot motorized barge described as a "military vessel" and eight other barges in one of the heaviest blows at enemy shipping of the war.

The U.S. Command also reported that eight American infantrymen were wounded today when an artillery shell prematurely detonated only 30 yards from the cannon's muzzle. The accident occurred 43 miles southwest of Kontum.

American artillery mistakenly shelled civilian areas in two separate instances this week, killing six Vietnamese civilians and wounding 26, the military disclosed.

The announcement came on the heels of reports that as yet an unidentified pair of jet bombers mistakenly bombed a refugee - clogged pro-government village Thursday. A Vietnamese spokesman said 95 civilians were killed and 200 wounded. The U.S. Command said revised figures showed 83 killed and 175 wounded.

Killed 271

In the ground war in the south, U.S. Marines reported killing 271 North Vietnamese troops in scattered actions mostly near the demilitarized zone. The biggest bag was claimed by artillery and jets when 70 enemy troops were caught in the open.

There were several sharp firefights near "the Rockpile," a hill near the DMZ line where Marines killed 37 enemy in two actions. The Marines claim to have killed 462 North Vietnamese soldiers thus far in the month-long Operation Prairie Two.

In the same area the North Vietnamese fired 48 mortar shells into a Marine position at dusk Friday, bringing the total shelling for the week well over the 2,000 mark.

A company of U.S. paratroopers was hard hit when they stumbled into a Viet Cong trap in War Zone C Friday, in the area where 45,000 U.S. troops are involved in Operation Junction City.

Cruiser Attack

The U.S. cruiser Canberra fired its eight-inch guns against North Vietnam again Friday and for a second day aimed its shells at surface to air missile sites. No report of damage was available.

In South Vietnam American fighter-bombers flew 464 sorties against a variety of targets, 256 in support of ground troops. Transports dropped 11 million propaganda leaflets over the country.

In Saigon more than 6,000 high school students held another anti-French rally in front of the French Consulate today, but dispersed without creating any major disturbance. Riot police ringed the consulate.

The demonstration was the latest in a week-long series demanding a firm stand in the war, calling for unity, and protesting the alleged formation of a coalition government-in-exile in Paris by leaders of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front and non-Communist exiles in France.

Reports from Paris brought denials from some of the exiles allegedly involved.

Panel Defends Draft Deferment For College Men

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special civilian advisory panel has defended draft deferments for college undergraduates, saying a greater percentage of them eventually go into the service than do nonstudents.

At the same time, the advisory group suggested major changes in the draft to induct younger men first and end student deferments when students either earn undergraduate degrees or reach age 24.

No Favoritism

College students, said the panel, have not "been protected from the draft or received favored treatment compared to nonstudents.

"In recent years 60 per cent of the college student group has served in the armed forces as volunteers or inductees, whereas 57 per cent of noncollege students were called to or entered military service," the report said.

The report was issued Friday by Chairman L. Mendel Rivers of the House Armed Services Committee, which authorized the study of the nation's draft laws.

President Johnson's National Advisory Commission on Selective Service will release tonight a separate report on the draft. Key sections of the current draft law expire July 1.

No Unfairness

The House committee's panel, while recommending changes, said the public shouldn't believe "that gross unfairness prevails throughout the draft system."

Rejected were more radical changes in the system proposed by critics who say the system is unfair and inefficient. Among these were suggestions for an all-volunteer armed forces, a lottery to pick draftees and universal service — military or civilian — by young men.

Continue Assault On Bobby's Peace Plan for Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration, drawing support from some Republican leaders, is continuing its assault on Vietnam peace moves proposed by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

"Hanoi has made it quite clear that it is not interested in a temporary pause," Secrtary of State Dean Rusk said Friday of Kennedy's proposal that the Unted States suspend its bombing of North Vietnam and initiate peace negotiations.

Gives Alternative

The New York Democrat told the Senate Thursday the bombing could be reconsidered and possibly resumed if time and events prove the Communists do not want peace.

But Rusk, after appearing before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Friday, said Hanoi seems to have "closed the door" on the Kennedy's kind of peace approach.

Johnson made it clear as Kennedy was speaking that the bombings would continue. He previously had said "military and civilian leaders are doing what they believe is best to protect the safety, lives of our men there, and to try to bring about a halt to the war and the aggression."

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen said "I'm entirely with" Johnson. Dirksen said Kennedy "has treated rather lightly efforts by the President over a considerable period of time to bring them to the peace table, stop adding reinforcements, stop infiltrating."

No Response

"But my God," Dirksen added, "there's been no response. What reason is there to think there'll be a response now."

Rusk said there is no assurance the Communists want peace, despite their demands for a permanent and unconditional end to the bombing.

"I would prefer that the enemy show some evidence of good faith before unilateral cessation of bombing," said Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill.

But he also said administration statements on the terms for an end to the bombing are "simply too vague to be practical" and urged Johnson to be more specific about peace talks.

Ask Time, Place

"Have him (Johnson) name a time and a place," Percy said, and tell the Communists that "providing you show up to negotiate, we will stop the bombing...and so long as you continue to negotiate in good faith, we will not bomb."

Percy said it would be unfortunate if Democratic politics affected the search for peace, a reference to the long-standing intra-party coolness between Johnson and Kennedy.

Talks Today Will Draft Powell Moves

BIMINI, Bahamas (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell meets today with his attorneys to discuss the legal moves he will take in efforts to regain his seat in the House of Representatives.

Powell's attorneys, it was learned from a source in New York, are considering at least two legal actions:

Federal Suit

—A federal court suit in Washington against House Speaker John W. McCormack on grounds the House exceeded its authority in denying him his seat. Powell's lawyers contend he met all constitutional qualifications — citizenship, age and residency.

—A federal court suit in New York seeking to enjoin Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, and possibly the Board of Elections, from declaring Powell's seat in the 18th Congressional District of Harlem vacant.

Henry R. Williams, one of Powell's eight attorneys, said in New York, "I don't know how it will be finalized."

"Something in that nature will happen," he said. "I can't say there will be two separate actions. There will be at least one and maybe two."

Decides to Run

At a news conference in Bimini Friday, Powell told reporters he would be a candidate in the event an election is called to fill his vacant seat.

A small rally was held in New York Friday night during which speakers mapped out a doorbell and phone campaign to re-elect Powell.

In Princeton, N.J., Roy Wilkins, executive director of the Natonal Association for the Advancement of Colored people, said Powell is harming the civil rights movement.

Powell said he soon would end his self-imposed exile and return to Washington. He said he would let his attorneys decide when he would go to New York, where he is charged with contempt of court.

Meanwhile in Washington, the Associated Press reported the Powell case poses the question where Congress can exclued an elected member who meets basic constitutional requirements for seating.

This week the House excluded the Harlem Democrat from its membership. But the action is not likely to be final until after

Council of Churches Announces Support of Abortion Measure

Kingston Area Council of Churches goes on record in support of the bill before the New York State Legislature which would permit a procedure for the termination of pregnancy (therapeutic abortion) performed in a hospital by a licensed physician and surgeon upon any one of five groups, subject in each instance to the approval of a hospital committee.

The Rev. Richard R. Guice, chairman of the life and work committee of the Council of Churches today released this position concerning Senate Introduction 1562, Print 1562 and Assembly Intro 2568, Print 2584.

The local Council of Churches position in in line with the New York State Council of Churches statement in the 1967 Legislative Principles which called for reform of the laws governing abortin to permit "termination of pregnancy in instances where the health of the mother is threatened seriously, where there is substantial reason to believe that the child would be born badly deformed in mind or body, or where the pregnancy has resulted from rape or incest." The grounds for therapeutic abortion proposed in the bill conform substatially with the State Council position, and the safeguards against possible abuse of a liberalized law seem reasonable, indicated the Rev. Mr. Guice.

The Rev. Mr. Guice further outlined the Council's position as follows:

The support is given to this bill, not because we do not believe in the sanctity of human life (even though there is disagreement about the point at which human life does, in fact, begin), but because we believe that there can be situations in which considerations of profound charity dictate that termination of pregnancy be permitted for the sake of the mother or of the child that may be born or both.

"It is further pointed out that we do not advocate reform of the laws governing abortion for reasons of birth control or eugenics. We are concerned solely with situations in which continuation of the pregnancy would have tragic, damaging or psychologically deleterious effects. We advocate only the termination of pregnancy be permitted in these instances, not made mandatory. The right of a parent or the parents to determine, for religious or other reasons, that a pregnancy shall be continued, (even when grounds for therapeutic abortion exist) must not be infringed."

Besides the Rev. Mr. Guice, the Rev. C. Pershing Hunter, St. James Methodist Church, the Rev. Edwin C. Coon, and James Reid, Fair Street Reformed Church attended one-day of the Legislative Seminar in Albany on Monday sponsored by the New York State Council of Churches. They heard an address by Frank C. Moore; a panel discussion on the Legislative Process; attended both legislative houses and participated in a conference in the Red Room with Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller. Churchmen, lay and clergy, from all over the State assembled for two days to concentrate on legislative proposals.

Locally, the delegate members of the Kingson Area Council of Churches keep abreast of legislation issues by receiving the legislative releases written by the Legislative Commission of the New York State Council of Churches during the legislative session.

The Rev. Mr. Guice, who is pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, Kingston, and chairman of the life and work committee of the local Council of Churches expressed the concern that persons communicate directly with their legislators with reference to their opinion on legislative proposals.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

"The beauty of faith is in its articulation—not in the poetry of words, but in action. There is nothing passive about faith. It is a personal force which demands to be translated into constructive action."

That is the creed of James H. Boren, of The Partners.

Jim Boren was born in a Methodist parsonage in Wheatland, Okla., and has life has been steeped in faith.

In college he thought he might follow his father's footsteps and become a minister, but decided he could do more good in the field of education. After a series of teaching assignments, Jim finally found the niche that gave him the greatest potential for faith in action in the Agency for International Development. It was with the Alliance for Progress program, a partnership of the people of the free American Republics, that Jim conceived and organized The Partners.

The Partners is a person to person program in which organizations, state and city institutions, even individuals, can work with people and groups in Central and South America for social, economic and cultural development through private initiative.

Historic Study Grant Goes to Esopus Priest

A professor of church history at the Redemptorist Theologate, Esopus, has just been awarded a study-grant of $2,000 by the American Association of Theological Schools — the first such grant to a Catholic priest in the half century of the Association's existence. The AATS is an association of Christian divinity schools that had been exclusively Protestant until May 1966 when it welcomed to membership five Catholic major seminaries, among them Mount St. Alphonsus at Esopus.

Last week in a letter from Dr. Jesse Ziegler, secretary of the AATS, the Rev. Carl Hoegerl, CSsR, of Mount St. Alphonsus was informed that the board of directors had awarded him the grant for studies in Reformation history at the University of Muenster, Germany, under the renowned Dr. Kurt Aland, dean of the evangelical theological faculty there.

Father Hoegerl, a native of Meadville, Pa., after his ordination in 1950 took his MA in history at the Catholic University of America. Since 1953 he has been teaching history at both the minor and major seminary of the Redemptorists.

Area Baptists To Host Concert

The Kings College Choir of Briarcliff Manor will present a sacred concert at the First Baptist Church of Rhinebeck Sunday 11 a. m.

The fifty-voice choir is composed of students from the various classes and academic majors. It performs during the winter and spring for churches and community groups, and each Easter season conducts and extended tour.

Associate Professor Dean Arlton director of the choir, received his undergraduate training at Dakota Wesleyan University and Augustana College in South Dakota. After earning his master's degree at Columbia University, he took further studies at Union Seminary and the University of Washington. Arlton is presently completing his doctoral studies at Columbia University.

The concert will consist of anthems, hymn arrangements and negro spirituals. Vocal and instrumental solos will also be included.

Minister Keeps The Faith, Fired From Factory Job

UTICA, N.Y. (AP)—A Baptist minister protests that he was fired from his job as a sheet-metal press-operator because he wore a placard inscribed with one of the Ten Commandments.

The Rev. Erwin Williams of Lyons Falls said Friday he was fired Thursday after a foreman at the Bossert Manufacturing Corp. had told him to "take off the sign or quit the job."

The Rev. Mr. Williams said he refused to quit or to remove the placard, which read:

"The Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain."

The inscription is a paraphrase of the third commandment.

The soft-voiced, 46-year-old minister said he wore the sign "because of filthy language used by the men" at the plant. In addition, he said, there were many pictures of nude women on the walls near the machinery.

"I told the foreman that the pictures were certainly more distracting than my 12 by 8-inch sign and that, if he would agree to take them down and ask the men to stop using foul language, I'd remove the placard," the Rev. Mr. Williams said.

The Rev. Mr. Williams, who is minister of the Faith Baptist Church in Lyonsdale, said he had worked at the plant for about two months in order to raise money for church purposes.

Formerly, he said, he was a minister in Pasadena, Tex., near Houston, and Belle Plaine, Iowa.

Robert E. Brown, treasurer of the firm, confirmed Friday night that the minister had been fired.

Bossert, a metal welding and stapling firm, employs about 350 persons.

AME Minister To Be Speaker at Union Services

The guest speaker at the fourth Lenten service sponsored by the Kingston Area Council of Churches Sunday will be the Rev. Vernon A. Douglas, pastor of the Franklin Street African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church.

St. James Methodist Church, Fair and Pearl Streets will host the service which begins at 7:30 p. m. Participating in the service will be the Rev. John H. Frenssen, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran Church and the Rev. C. Pershing Hunter, host pastor. The guest speaker's theme will be, Why Did He Die?

The Rev. Mr. Douglas is a graduate of Toronto Theological College, Toronto, Canada and the American Bible College, Chicago, Ill. He was ordained to the Diconate in 1949 by the Rt. Rev. George Veck of Toronto, Canada. He has served as pastor at the Church on the Hill, Toronto, Canada and Saint Augustine's Church, Brooklyn.

In June 1962 the Rev. Mr. Douglas became affilliated with the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church, New York Conference. He has served as assistant pastor of the Smith Street AME Church, Poughkeepsie, and pastorates at the Brownsville AME Zion Church and Franklin Street AME Zion Church.

Music for the service will include anthems, Worthy the Lamb by Bradshaw and O Magnify the Lord with Me, arr. Lynn. Organ selections will be Five Pieces on Kyrie by Couperin and Fantasia in G Major by Bach.

Your Life and Mine

CLYDE HERBERT SNELL

UP WHERE THE STORMS HIT

Out for a stroll one day on a mountain path, Archibald Rutledge met a native farmer on his way up the mountain with an ax in his hand. He explained that he was going after a piece of timber out of which to fashion a tongue for his wagon. "But why do you have to go up the mountain for timber?" queried Mr. Rutledge. "Here in the valley there is all kinds of timber. There are trees all around us, and you say you are going up the mountain after timber?" "Yes sir," replied the farmer, "you see I need the strongest, toughest wood I can get, the kind that grows only up there where the storms hit."

The storms of life are not easy to take. Sometimes they lash out at us with all their fury. But no one can deny the fact that the tests and struggles do build an inner strength into the very fibre of our souls. Ease and luxury make us flabby. Greatness of mind and heart are not fashioned, for the most part, in the protective environment of easy, undemanding circumstances. When life makes no significant demands of us we are apt to settle for mediocrity. It is the hard things that kindle the sturdiness of will which fashions great character—and that leads to nobility of achievement.

Epictetus, a slave who lived in the first century in Greece, became one of the world's most profound scholars and philosophers. Disraeli, the despised Jew, became Prime Minister of Great Britain. Booker T. Washington, who was born in slavery in this country, became one of the nation's greatest educators. Another Negro slave, George Washington Carver, became one of the greatest scientists of his generation. And Abraham Lincoln, born of illiterate parents in a mountain cabin in Kentucky, lived to be acclaimed one of the greatest statesmen of all time.

These all achieved against almost insurmountable obstacles. Their spirits were fashioned out of timber that grew "up there where the storms hit."

"Heights by great men reached and kept,
Were not attained by sudden flight.
But they, while their companions slept,
Were toiling upward in the night."

Reports 105 Sign For Seminars at County College

A total of 105 high school juniors and seniors in Ulster County have signed up for a special enrichment program Ulster County Community College is offering, Professor Harry Matzen, the coordinator, said today.

"We're very pleased by the response we've had for the program," said Prof. Matzen, "and feel it shows that our program is filling a real need in Ulster County."

Matzen said many high school principles, teachers and guidance counselors are pleased with the scope and structure of the seminars.

There will be four seminars, each built around a different discipline. The program's goal is to provide an enriched experience for the students and to sharpen their enthusiasm for a college experience.

The seminars are being offered by the College's Science and Mathematics Division and the Social Science Divisions. Professor Matzen said he hopes more College divisions will participate in the program in the future.

They are entitled, "Nature of Science," "The Classical and Medieval Foundations of Western Thoughts," "Dynamics of Sociology," and "The United States as a Mass Society — a Critical Appraisal."

Prof. Matzen said college officials, through the program, want to present ideas and concepts to the high school juniors and seniors that are inventive, stimulating and challenging.

"Through the program," he said, "we want to enable the high school students to become acquainted with college-structured courses, and to ease the students transition from high school to college."

Overseas Aid Passes Four Billionth Pound

The four billionth pound of food was loaded aboard a vessel in San Francisco harbor this week by Church World Service and shortly thereafter was on its way overseas to aid the needy in Asia.

That particular figure — four billion pounds — was the total CWS had handled during the past 20 years to feed millions of hungry refugees, in food shortage areas and victims of natural and man made disasters.

During a dockside ceremony held to mark the four billionth pound mark — equivalent to a convoy of trailer trucks bumper to bumper from New York City to Denver, Colo. — Melvin B. Myers, an official of CWS and a group of national church leaders marked the historic occasion. Also at the dockside ceremonies were officials of the Northern California Council of Churches and San Francisco Council of Churches.

Kiwanis Given Tips on Skiing

The techniques of skiing and the proper type of equipment to use in this sport were explained to the Kingston Kiwanis Club Thursday by Dr. C. F. Goffredi and B. H. (Bud) Potter.

"Skiing is based upon pure physical dynamics" said Dr. Goffredi, local dentist, who related that he had become interested in the sport when he was "past 40 years of age" and emphasized that age was no problem in the art of skiing.

Dr. Goffredi mentioned the local junior program for skiers and revealed that handicapped persons can also ski. He said that "skiing is different than any other sport," and that "lessons are essential." Local skiining instructors are available, he said and advised that people learn to ski first in their own backyards or in a park—"they should learn to walk around first and become familiar with their skiis."

Steps in the sport of skiing were outlined as learning to walk, learning control, becoming acquainted with proper methods of turning, and acquiring knowledge concerning weight and balance.

Dr. Goffredi spoke of the benefits of the skiing sport to local businesses, stated that an "American method" had been developed in the last three years, and told of the existence of an active ski club in Kingston High school and the hope that skiing would become a varsity sport locally.

Potter spoke concerning the proper types of equipment to use, both for enjoyment and safety.

Height, weight, and ability were three factors that must be considered when purchasing a pair of skiis, said Potter. He exhibited a modern ski and compared it with an older type—showing the modern ability to release a ski boot in case of an accident and thus avoid becoming injured because the skier's foot was orginally held fast to the ski.

Both speakers indicated that the sport of skiing was well organized and increasing locally.

Albany Bishops Tour North Country Area

The Episcopal Diocese of Albany, with its far-flung parishes and missions in the area of the Adirondack Mountains, upstate farm country and cities of New York State, will be the scene of an unusual pilgrimage during the coming year. The Bishop of Albany, the Rt. Rev. Allen W. Brown and his Suffragan, the Rt. Rev. Charles B. Persell, Jr., will make extensive visits possibly covering more than 25,000 miles and to confer with parishioners for two or three days in every Episcopal parish throughout the diocese.

In what is probably one of the most ambitious programs of its kind ever undertaken, traveling to remote and sometime isolated areas, the Bishops will attempt to bring the Church and the people into contact with changing moods and times in the world today.

These visits will be made in addition to the usual ones made by bishops for confirmation and other formal duties.

Slowdown, but No Recession Experts Claim

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some call the economic situation a slowdown. Others see it as a pause, a readjustment or just plain sluggishness.

But government experts are unanimous in one view — the current picture is far removed from a recession, which they believe just isn't in the cards.

Administration officials, despite a marked slowing in economic activity, continue to look for an upsurge later this year and contend the current sluggishness was anticipated fully when President Johnson recommended a 6 per cent surtax to go into effect July 1.

Some private experts have expressed fear the tax increase might force a downturn or even a recession.

Production dropped sharply in January and the experts expect the government index to show another drop in February, especially in view of falling auto sales.

Retail sales virtually were unchanged in January but employment increased that month. The latest for which figures are available.

Government figures on corporate profits have not been compiled for the last three months of 1966.

One government analyst said a resurgence in housing construction, increased state and local spending and the new Social Security benefits proposed by Johnson are some reasons to expect an upturn in economic activity.

The government's prediction for a 4 per cent rise in real growth this year still stands, he said.

But the first quarter rise in Gross National Product, the value of all goods and services produced in the economy, could be the smallest in more than two years.

It's believed that GNP might increase by less than $10 billion during the first three months of the year, the lowest since the $6.3-billion increase for the last quarter of 1964.

A Federal Reserve Board spokesman said this week's easing of bank credit, by dropping from 4 per cent to 3 per cent the amount of reserves banks must hold against savings accounts, was taken against the backdrop of slower economic activity.

The government completed Thursday the economic picture for January by reporting a substantial decline in new factory orders and a continuing increase in inventories.

The Commerce Department said new orders for durable goods dropped 6.7 per cent instead of the 5.1 per cent reported earlier. This factor is supposed to indicate future economic activities.

But housing starts, the same type of leading economic indicator, rose substantially during January as they had the previous two months.

With unemployment low, industrial output down, retail sales unchanged and personal income up substantially, even the Commerce Department said January was a very mixed business month.

REV. CLIFFORD GAY

Mission Program Slated Sunday at Nazarene Church

Missionaries to the Cape Verde Island, the Rev. and Mrs. Clifford Gay will be guests Sunday at the First Church of the Nazarene, Elmendorf Street and Wiltwyck Avenue.

The Rev. Gay will show slides of the work of the denomination in the Cape Verde Islands and Mrs. Gay will present the musical portion of the service.

This is the Rev. Mr. Gay's fourth furlough since being assigned to the islands in 1939.

He served for 12 years in the town of Praia, San Tiago as a pastor, field treasurer and later as field superintendent. Upon his return to the field in 1954, the Rev. Mr. Gray assumed the pastorate of the Brava Church also located on the island of San Tiago. After four years he went to the island of St. Vincent where he pastored the church at Mindelo. In 1961 he became the field superintendent and held that position until his recent furlough.

The Rev. Mr. Gray was born in Risca, South Wales and attended the Bible College in Swansea, South Wales. He and Mrs. Gray were married in 1955 and have two boys, Peter age 10 and Mark age four.

Salesman Wins Best Folk Song

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Singer Cortelia Clark, winner of one of the record industry's top awards, is back selling shopping bags on a downtown Nashville street corner.

Clark, 60, is blind. He won a Grammy Thursday for "Blues in the Street" as the best folk recording of 1966.

Sales of "Blues in the Street," the only record ever cut by Clark, were unimpressive, but he won the Grammy over such folk artists as Pete Seeger and Peter, Paul and Mary.

"I lost my sight about 15 years ago, after an operation, and that's about the time I took up playing and singing," said Clark.

His album includes some songs he has been singing for more than 10 years while sitting on a sidewalk in front of a department store.

Mike Weesner, 25, a music publisher and a graduate student at Vanderbilt University, is credited with bringing Clark to the attention of the record industry.

Weesner says he recalls when, as a young boy, "every time I came downtown, I would make my mother take me down to hear the blind man sing."

Three years ago, Weesner made a sample recording of Clark's songs. Last July, he got RCA to record "Blues in the Street."

"The Grammy isn't presented to the one with the most sales," said Weesner. "And it has nothing to do with whether a recording artist is well known. It is presented, simply, to the best."

"I really am pleased," Clark said. "I hope now that they'll let me record some more."

TOM AND RAMSEY CLARK

There is no parallel situation, to our knowledge, to the one that developed when President Johnson announced that he would appoint Ramsey Clark Attorney General with his father, Tom C. Clark, an associate justice sitting on the U.S. Supreme Court. The senior Clark took care of the prospective conflict of interest by announcing that he would resign from the tribunal no later than the present session of the Court.

Justice Clark's action took both the President and the prospective Attorney General by surprise. President Johnson said he had not discussed the possibility of a conflict of interest or of resignation with either the father or son. The young Attorney General-designate said he had not known what his father would do and implied that he did not think it was essential for him to resign. Father and son had never discussed the problem, he said.

At a time when standards of ethics and conflicts of interest are debated both in the cloakrooms and on the floor of Congress, it is a sign of the integrity of Justice Clark—as well as his fatherly concern, putting his son's career above his own—that he should reach his decision without prior consultation with the two other most interested men.

Tom Clark became Attorney General at age 46 and Supreme Court Associate Justice at age 50. He is now third in seniority on the bench. He has tended to favor a conservative position on criminal defendants' rights (perhaps an effect of his service as assistant attorney general in charge of the criminal division), civil rights and the control of subversives. Recently, there has been signs of a shift toward his positions in these areas. His departure might interfere with making his views dominant.

Ramsey Clark at 39 has worked his way up to the head of the Department of Justice in six years of meticulous work in the department. He is widely respected as an administrator and for a deep concern for the rights of individuals.

SPRING SOON—HONEST

The glacial age is not upon us again. It only seems so, as the drifts of snow continue high and cold upon much of the countryside. Spring will come again, traveling slowly northward as it always has. Honest it will!

The earth will soften. The corcuses will break through the last vestiges of winter into the warming sunlight. Impossible as may seem when the snow lies deep, tulips will glow once more against the black loam that later will nourish summer's phlox and tiger lilies and all the rest of their bright kin.

It will be spring again, though during the winter months it is an act of faith to believe it. The birds will sing. The descendant of last year's backyard bunny will appear on the morning lawn, now loping, now listening, now frozen in a game of "statue," convinced that he is invisible to man.

When the time comes, the children will blossom with flowers. They will burst from their houses, shucking their snowsuit husks and amazing the neighborhood with their rate of growth during the months indoors. A new generation of small fry will be on the loose, grown into a new reliability of sorts.

Spring will arrive in its own sweet, measured time. That time is not yet, but it does no harm to remember and dream.

ROSTOW'S AT IT AGAIN

Walt W. Rostow, President Johnson's assistant for national security affairs, is at his favorite game again. Not long ago, it may be remembered, he was saying that the Soviet Union had "mellowed" and we can do business with them.

Now that the Soviet Union is helping North Vietnam kill American servicemen with mountains of supplies, Rostow says the Communists are growing more pragmatist and nationalist and their era of "romantic revolution is waning." Presumably, we still can do business with them, he indicates.

However, Soviet troops are still stationed in Hungary and East Germany. Soviet military men are proclaiming that no American missile will pierce their anti-missile defenses and reach their targets. There is no letdown in the propaganda against the United States.

Rostow had to give up his idea that the Soviet Union was mellowing. He should not be any the more believed with his new theory that it is moving into pragmatic and nationalist communism. It is still the same old design, with the same old aim, to bury us, even though the perpetrators now are Khrushchev's disciples, not Khrushchev himself.

Javits seeks a "great debate" on U.S. troops in Europe. Most of us figure it would be great if the question could be settled with just a medium-sized debate.

Global View

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A Congressional hearing on the Central Intelligence Agency's subsidies to student, labor and intellectual groups is now unavoidable—but not, let us hope, a witch hunt by self-styled liberals.

A fair impartial investigation could clear up many myths and mysteries about the CIA which, despite some serious errors, defended successfully and valiantly American interests in critical areas and at a critical time.

The trouble with the loud professional liberals, who see the CIA as a "sinster" force in American life, is that they want to eat their cake and have it, too.

When the House Un-American Activities Committee attempts to throw some light on the subversive activities of pro-Communist groups, the liberals are qquick to denounce the whole thing as dangerous witch hunting.

But baiting the CIA, in their view, is good for the country. It is justified witch hunting, as they see it.

The editors of Ramparts, the journal of the "new" San Francisco leftist kookism, have long ago discovered that it is good business to print sensational revelations about the CIA. It boosts the circulation of a publication that would otherwise have died in obscurity.

To be sure, they are not just ordinary capitalists interested in making a fast buck. They obviously have other reasons for printing their frequent exposes of the CIA.

They are against the war in Vietnam and this gives them an opportunity to discredit the Johnson administration a bit more among the academic know-nothings. They also, it seems, want to make it impossible for American student, labor and intellectual opinion to compete with Communist propaganda at international meetings.

Why the New York Times, among others, should print Ramparts' revelations on its front page and give them a sustained drumfire of national publicity is indeed one of the unexplained mysteries of our time. The disclosures have long been known to informed people of all shades of political spectrum, including Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The CIA activities are now looked upon with horror by the champions of student rowdyism and hooliganism on the West Coast. But they received their greatest impetus and support when John F. Kennedy was president. They originated with President Truman.

Not long ago the New York Times had already printed a series of articles on the same issue—the CIA support of American intellectual opinion abroad. It implicated distinguished litrary publications and prsonalities like Arthur Schlesinger Jr., former Ambassador George Kennan and the editors of the British magazine, Encounter.

Schlesinger and Kennan knew how to counteract the snide attacks, which seemed to imply that anyone who cooperated with the CIA had become a sinister CIA agent.

Unfortunately, some of the leaders of the National Student Association, brainwashed by "liberal" propaganda, have been convinced that nothing that the Johnson administration does abroad is vital and meaningful to the United States and the free world.

Instead of fighting back, they are ready to cry mea culpa—as if they have been convicted of some unforgivable sin.

All they did was to present their views as spokesmen of the American way of life. If they did more, if they also gathered valuable information that helped to alert the United States against the Communists—the American people owe them a debt of gratitude.

It may well turn out when all the facts are available that—at the level of student, labor and intellectual activity—not enough was done to counteract Marxism-Leninism as an international conspiracy.

Your Dental Health

Choice Is Yours Buying An Electric Toothbrush

By WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.D.S.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Most people are interested in having good teeth and good mouth health. This is amply illustrated by the $2 billion annual expenditure for dental health in the United States. Not an inconsiderable part of this total cost is spent for mechanical teeth-cleaning devices, an amount which is rapidly increasing.

These gadgets have become so popular and are so forcefully marketed that at a recent department store sale of $40 electric water sprays (sale price $19.95), it's reported the store was jammed with buyers.

Yet it's safe to say that very few of these eager beavers knew what they were buying. This instrument, with its pressurized, pulsating water stream, has a highly specialized purpose: to remove food debris from spaces between teeth. But normally there are no spaces between teeth. Usually spaces exist only in mouths that need dental treatment, or have had periodontal surgery. Therefore, while this is an excellent instrument, it should be purchased only on advice of your dentist.

When the first electric toothbrush was marketed, it was thought to be a silly gadget, designed for the man who had everything. Now they are standard bathroom equipment and are widely accepted as useful devices.

But there are so many models the question is, which one should you buy? Even dentists disagree. Some favor the up-and-down stroke and others side to side. Manufacturers have placed the burden of choice on the buyer by making brushes with either movement. Take your pick.

There are some mild complaints and suggestions about current models: They're too big, too long and too clumsy; brush heads are too big and bristles too stiff; they can't be placed on a shelf because they have a tendency to roll; side-to-side stroke seems best but movement should be in a narrower range.

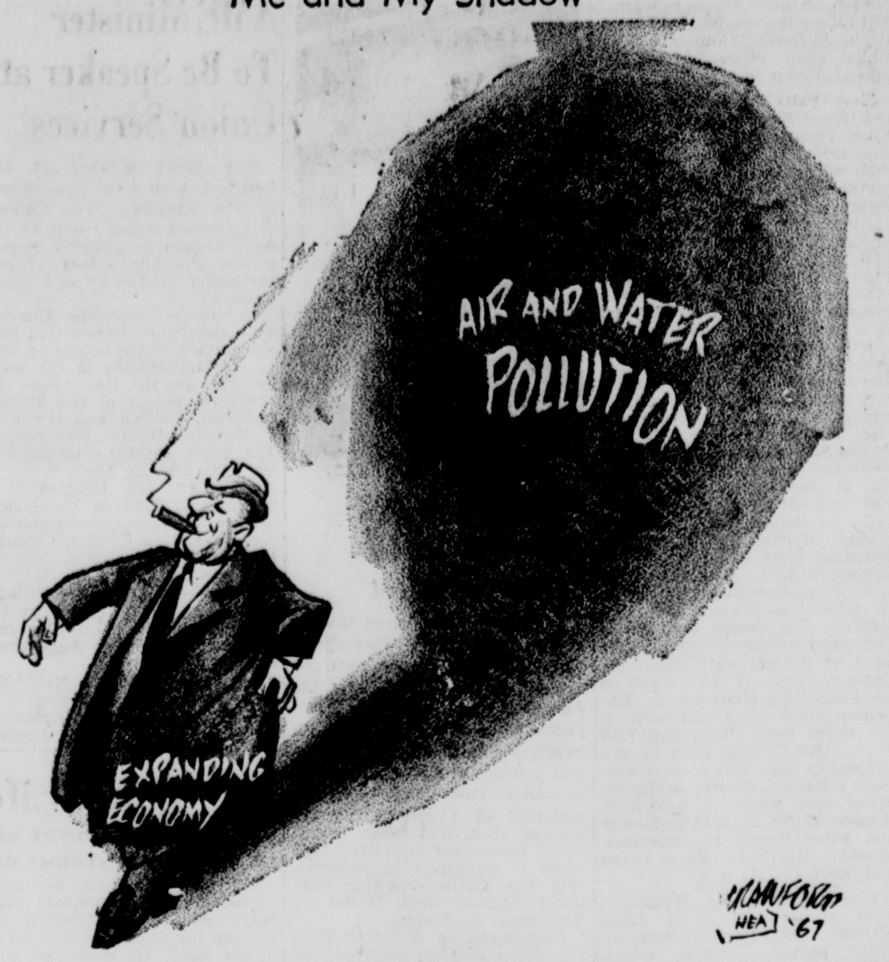

However the general consensus is: "They're great. I've never been able to clean my teeth so well."

Unconfirmed rumor has it that a new teeth-cleaning device is about to be marketed: an electric gold toothpick! If nothing else, it's a sign of the times.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — There's discussion of a lottery for selecting men for military service.

The first lottery of the World War II period was October 20, 1940. Each Selective Service local board shuffled its registration cards, then assigned each a serial or sequence number—1, 2, 3, . . .

Each local board then informed its state headquarters of the highest number it had assigned a registrant. This information was used by national headquarters to determine what numbers to include in the national lottery.

Then single numbers in capsules were brought from a U. S. Treasurey vault, where they had been kept under guard.

The capsules were deposited in the "goldfish bowl" used in 1917. They were drawn, one at a time, by prominent officials and others.

Microfilm cameras recorded the sequence in which the numbers were selected. Another camera photographed sheets to which the serial numbers were attached as drawn.

The film was used to prepare plates for printing the official master list suppiled local boards.

Using this national master list, local boards assigned each registrant an order number. The man whose serial number appeared nearest the top of the master list received order No. 1. He then became the first man to be classified by his local board as to liability for militray service.

The second national lottery, July 17, 1941, applied to men who had turned 21 since the first registration. The new registrants were integrated with those of the first lottery as follows:

The order number of the last man inducted by a local board from the first registration (the "key number") was subtracted from the highest order number assigned under that registration prior to July 8, 1941. The remainder was divided by the largest sequence number given to a new registrant prior to midnight July 8.

This quotient was used to integrate the new registrants with the old. That is, assume a local board "key number" was 1,740. Assume also the largest order number assigned in the first registration was 4,329 and that 216 was the largest sequence number given registrants of the second registration. Subtracting 1,740 from 4,329 would leave 2,589. Dividing 2,589 by 216 would give 11.95 or 12. Twelve would be the quotient.

The new registrant assigned sequence order No. 1 as a result of the second national lottery would become No. 13 on the combined list (the integrated list which included registrants assigned order numbers in the first lottery). The next seond-lottery man in order would become No. 26, and so on.

The third national lottery was held March 17, 1942, for men of the third group to register. A third national master list, worked out by the same lottery process, was used by local boards to assign order numbers. Integration of these men into the old lists wasn't attempted.

The fourth registration, April 27, 1942, applied to men 45 through 64. These men were not liable for military service and therefore were not given order numbers.

The fifth registration involved 2 million men between 18 and 20. With 25 million liable men registered, Selective Service took stock of its procedures. The lottery system had become so complicated, officials decided that from then on order numbers would be based on date of birth and not lot.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

A very interesting and large paper back book was loaned to me by the Book Center in the Ulster Shopping Plaza, Albany Avenue Extension, Kingston. It is called Dutch Houses in the Hudson Valley before 1776 by Helen Wilkinson Reynolds, and introduction by Franklin D. Roosevelt. It has more than 460 pages and many pictures. It lists over 60 houses from Ulster County alone, and has an excellent index. The Book Center has a section just for local books and other items. Being in the midst of so many land changes in Ulster County this book is extremely interesting and historically important, I think.

One house which is written up and illustrated with photographs is the Cornelius Lamberts Brink homestead, Town of Saugerties, Ulster County. Going back to 1688 Brink bougrt a tract of land bounded south by the Platte Kill and east by the Esopus and built a dwelling supposed to have been of logs. Some 13 years later he built one of stone on higher ground above the flats and marked on a stone over his entrance C L M B 1701, for himself and his wife, (Marritje Egbertse Brink). Later he made additions. At the southwest angle of walls rough stones project at intervals as shown on plate 61, and tradition in the Brink family explained these as steps to reach the roof in case of alarm of unfriendly Indians or just to see the area better. It seems in the older homes, there was a way to reach the roof, or there would be some sort of a peak or construction so that folks could venture up to see the countryside and perhaps decide on the weather from a good vantage point.

The author also wrote that tenure of land by one family from 1688 to the time the book was written recently is also a historical record. In plate 61 they mention the shutters and strap-hinges which may be 18th century items. I feel the ranch style houses of today, all on one floor go back to the original log cabins, both often having an open fireplace and outdoor patio for enjoying refreshments in good weather. The atic and the cellar, and even a second cellar came later, but of course in those days, people had more land as they needed it for food.

Now if a piece of land is large enough for the house a tiny lawn in front, a driveway, and a two-car garage that seems to be sufficient for modern living. Also in those days they found that wood should not touch the ground, for weather and water is only good for a live tree not dead wood, and stone touched the ground wherever possible so it would not have to be replaced or painted. Today, pretty little houses are of wood, and stone of good variety is hard to come by. Steps were made of bluestone and lasted several centuries, many of those buildings, of thick walls, cool in the summer warm in the winter are now coming down, in the name of so called progress.

Mrs. Reynolds mentions in her book, that as late as 1925 an American visiting France and seeing an ancient house with projecting stones such as in the Brink homestead in Saugerties was told, was a form of construction used in Europe as a means of locking two walls securely. A French stone mason at work on such a building explained it, and that it had been used for centuries with good results. As I remember, John Burroughs Slabsides has that stone projecting in the large outside fireside chimney.

LBJ Beats Bobby to Punch, Presidential Coincidence?

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — It might have been just a presidential coincidence, but the timing was terrific.

There is no doubt Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., gets in President Johnson's hair with what he says on Vietnam. But, while earlier this year he must have made it look wind-blown. Thursday he blew a gale.

Butted in Twice

Yet before the day was over Kennedy, who might have had the front pages to himself, had to share them with Johnson who butted in not once but twice.

Earlier, this year, while skipping around Western Europe, Kennedy got worldwide attention with some statements he made, like saying the next few weeks would be critical in the war.

He was reported saying secret talks were going on. But he said this wasn't what he had said. He said contacts were being made. The White House said it knew nothing special about the next few weeks. And Johnson said he knew of no serious efforts by Hanoi to end the war.

Then, a sensation. Newsweek magazine must have rocked Johnson with a story saying Kennedy, while in Paris, got a peace-feeler from North Vietnam. Asked about it, Kennedy at first refused to comment.

Naturally, this raised a number of questions, one above all: Wouldn't it be strange if Kennedy could start the peace ball rolling and Johnson couldn't? Kennedy came home and saw Johnson.

After that get-together Kennedy said he hadn't brought any peace feeler. And more reports, unverified, said Johnson had bawled him out. Not long after that Kennedy let it be known he was preparing a major speech on Vietnam.

Cinch for Front Pages

Thursday was the day he chose to deliver it. He was a cinch to make front pages. Then something happened. Maybe it was only a coincidence. But Johnson suddenly called a news conference a few hours before Kennedy's talk.

Johnson quickly announced the Soviet Union, through Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, had agreed to discuss halting the arms race. This could have been the only reason for calling in the newsmen.

But one of them, and it was certainly a convenient time for Johnson to be asked the question, raised a point about peace with Vietnam. And Johnson at once made it clear there would be no let up in the pressure on Hanoi.

But Kennedy's whole speech was to be a proposal that U.S. bombing stop for a while to see if North Vietnam wanted to talk peace. Now Johnson had answered him before Kennedy could start. Was this just a coincidence?

Later in the day a newsman told Johnson's press secretary, George Christian, "some suspicious people" wondered if Johnson had not called the news conference and made the war statement to take the play away from Kennedy.

Christian expressed innocence. And later in the day Kennedy made his speech but had hardly started before Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., a Johnson supporter on Vietnam, made public a letter from the President.

Perfect Timing

In the letter Johnson said the bombing had been effective and would continue. Was this a coincidence, too? The timing couldn't have been better, from Johnson's viewpoint.

Here he was throwing cold water on Kennedy's speech before Kennedy could finish it. Johnson's letter, dated March 1, reached Jackson at almost the moment when Kennedy began speaking.

Kennedy, it turned out, had sent a copy of his speech (before he made it) to the White House but Christian said Johnson hadn't seen it and that it was Jackson who made the decision on when to make the letter public.

Thus twice in one day Johnson answered Kennedy "without anyone being able to say positively Johnson was replying to Kennedy at all. In fact, Christian said the White House would have no comment on Kennedy's speech.

Business Week in Review

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board acted during the week to pump more lendable money into the economy.

It reduced the reserves that member commercial banks must keep idle behind savings and certain other accounts.

Acted In Line

The board, which on occasion hasn't seen eye to eye with administration fiscal policies, acted in line with President Johnson to ease what has been a tight money situation.

It said that by mid-March the present four per cent reserve requirement on savings deposits and Christmas and vacation club accounts as well as on the first $5 million of other time deposits at each bank will drop to three per cent.

This will result in freeing about $850 million of frozen funds for lending.

The board said its action "is intended to assist in meeting developing credit needs throughout the country in a manner consistent with the Federal Reserve's policy objectives consistent with the Federal Reserve's policy objectives of assuring that the availability of credit is adequate to provide for orderly economic growth."

Expreses Delight

"We're delighted," said an administration economist. "This is a clear demonstration of the easing the Federal Reserve intends, and I think the market will read it that way."

The immediate reaction was a rise in the bond market and the reduction of some short-term money rates.

Economists hoped that much of the additonal lending funds would find their way into mortgages and spur the housing construction industry which recently has shown signs of pulling out of its 1966 slump.

In another move to bolster the economy, the government announced it would release $175 million to the states for highway spending. Last November, President Johnson had ordered $800 million cut from the $4.1 billion in federal highway aid that had been scheduled for distribution to the states in the current fiscal year. The $175 million will come out of this cut.

Two Roll Back

Under government pressure, Continental Oil Co. and Mobil Oil Co. rescinded a portion of a gasoline price increase announced by a dozen major producers earlier this month. American Oil Co. said it plans no cut. The Department of Interior had threatened to raise the petroleum import quota to force a rollback.

The original increase would have resulted in a boost of one cent a gallon in the recommended retail price of gasoline. It was estimated this would have cost consumers an additional $750 million a year.

A key economic barometer, orders for new machine tools, fell 23 per cent in January from December and 37 per cent from a year earlier.

Total $99.2 Million

Orders in January totaled $99.2 million, the lowest since May 1965, when $89.8 million was booked. Orders in December totaled $129.55 million and in January 1966 $15.25 million.

"The depressing effect of the suspension of the seven per cent investment tax credit is playing a major part in the decline," said A. J. DeWolf, president of the National Machine Tool Builders Association.

The Commerce Department reported a decline in new factory orders in January. They fell 4.5 per cent to $43.7 billion. The decline in orders for durable goods was even more substantial — 6.7 per cent.

Another depressing statistic was the F. W. Dodge Co. report that the total value of contracts awarded in January for future construction declined from the year-earlier level for the fifth consecutive month.

Dodge, a construction and marketing concern, said contract value in January fell 18 per cent to $2,837,838,000 from $3,453,280,000 a year earlier.

Housing Up

The company said that while housing construction was picking up, nonresidential building and heavy construction were weakening.

Automobile production for the week was estimated at 97,700 passenger cars, down 20 per cent from 123,224 the previous week and off 50 per cent from 194,856 a year ago.

The decline was due to a wildcat strike at a key General Motors Corp. parts plant and previously planned cutbacks because of lagging sales.

Steel production for the week rose to the highest level in more than four months — 2,582,000 tons — up 4.3 per cent from 2,476,000 tons the previous week.

B of E Praises Bus Owners; Supporting County Tax Map

Onteora Board of Education members have gone on record as being deeply appreciative to area bus constractors, who responded with overwhelming good will and helpful enthusiasm in helping to relieve the recent transportation problem in the OCS district. In praising these bus contractors for their badly needed assistance in an emergency situation, Board members approved the forwarding of letters of commendation to each bus carrier involved in shouldering additional work and added responsibilities by taking up the slack left when Lakeview Transit encountered financial difficulties which forced its buses off the road permanently.

The Board, upon the recommendation of Trustee Richard Langham, has also voted to advise all Town Supervisors in the district and the Ulster County Board of Supervisors that it fully supports the creation of a county-wide tax map. Langham, legislative watchdog for the board, also recommended support or opposition on various bills now before the New York State Legislature. Other trustees agreed with him that strong opposition should be brought against bill AI-831 by Hellenbrand, which requires all-day pre-kindergarten classes for children over three and under six years of age.

Other legislation opposed by the Onteora Board:

AI-1057 by Ginsberg which provides that notices of annual meetings be published at least 35 instead of 25 days before the meeting and nominating petitions for board vacancies to be submitted at an earlier date.

AI 434 by Stevenson which would require a regularly employed teacher to fill vacancy caused by tenure teacher on leave.

SI 392 by Lombardi which provide transportation for children in grades kindergarten through eight in "hazardous zones."

AI 1241 by Chisholm, once attained, allowing tenure credit in any school district.

AI 3193 by Schmidt which would require children to attend nearest school to residence.

Board Lends Support

The Board will, however, support SI 951 by Dominick, which is the Educational Conference Board Bill, and SI 3042 by Laverne which would provide state aid funds for adult education, summer programs, etc. Trustees also went on record as favoring a move by the Federal Government that would include in its census data, the school district in which residents live. Board action on all these matters are to be forwarded to legislators.

In other action at its most recent regular meeting, the Board voted to terminate the employment of Joseph Nazzaro, member of the English faculty, effective last Feb. 1 with salary paid through March 3.

Scheduled meetings for the future include:

Regular Board Workshops on the Budget, March 6 and 14 at 8 p. m. Also March 28 at the same time.

Regular Board of Education meeting, March 20 at 8 p.m. at West Hurley School.

150 Participate In Thinking Day

Approximately 150 Girl Scouts of ths area participated in the annual Thinking Day program held recently on the evening of Washington's Birthday at the Bennett Elementary School, Boiceville. Girls involved in the program belong to the 10 troops in the Onteora Neighborhood, which is part of the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts.

Mrs. Eugene Howland, of Lake Hill, reports that Dimes for Daisy Funds were collected from each troop during the program. These funds will be used to promote Scouting in other lands.

Singled out to receive engraved plaques at the program were George Kirk, Edmund Quednau, Patrick DiSalvo and Bud Buley. Presentations were made by Mrs. Pat Molloy, Neighborhood chairman, in appreciation for help given by these four local men in planning and running the Girl Scout Camporee held each year by the Onteora Neighborhood. Those involved in Neighborhood work know that, without their help, the Camporee would not be a reality.

As part of the Thinking Day program, each troop represented a particular part of the world and performed for other troops, parents and relatives in the audience. Countries and areas represented were: New Zealand—Junior Troop 177, Far East—Brownie Troop 85, Indi—Brownie Troop 128, Near East—Senior Troop 172, Africa — Junior Troop 190, South Euorpe—Junior Troop 178, North Europe—Cadet Troop 86, South America—Brownie Troop 80, United States—Junior Troop 179, and Alaska and Hawall—Brownie Troop 91. Presentations included songs, dances, skits, handmade musical instruments, etc., characteristic of these countries.

The special program closed with the singing of "Follow the Piper" by Cadet Troop 86. This troop also led the other girls in forming a large circle around the audience, after which the colors were retired and "Taps" was sung by all Scouts to end the program.

Woodstock artist and Bearsville home owner, Ainslie Pat Burke, readying a one-man show to be seen at a New York Gallery in the near future.

No truth whatsoever in the rumor that Deanie's Restaurant will change hands. He has not and would not consider such a transaction, says the proprietor himself. However, one who should know tells us that if the White Horse Inn on Route 375 has not already changed hands, it will shortly.

Dylan and Schmidt

The story we heard goes something like this: Bob Dylan, who has temporarily shifted from the folksing field to producing a movie for ABC television, persuaded bearded, long-haired artist Clarence Schmidt to do a turn in front of the cameras. Clarence trekked from his House of Mirrors on Ohayo Mountain and over to Dylan's Hiloha manse in Upper Byrdcliffe, where filming is taking place, to emote, cause photographers to tear their hair over his shenanigans, and do some trio singing with Dylan and another performer we hear goes by the name of Tiny Tim.

Meanwhile, another movie — with Clarence as the one and only star—has just been shown in New York City and at Bard College. Produced by Jud Yalkut, who brought a program of underground films to the WAA Gallery here not too many moons ago, the new movie—simply entitled "Clarence"—is said to be far superior to the one done earlier by film-maker Boris Sckoloff and seen locally on several occasions.

Malkine Singing Again on Record

"Sonia Malkine Sings French Songs of the Provinces" is the new record just released by Folkways and featuring Woodstock's talented female performer of the same name.

This is the second album of French songs waxed by Shady folksinger Malkine, who provides her own accompaniment. Local fans who have already heard it say it is flawless and far superior in reproduction to the first.

The record package contains a bonus in the form of a booklet in which the words of the songs are reprinted in French along with the English translation. The artist said the record has already been issued throughout the country to schools and colleges by Scholastics, which recommends its use in French in both beginning and advanced courses.

The new record was first heard locally on a recent FM broadcast over WGHQ, hosted by Alex Osina. It was available directly from the artist or, by order, through local shops. It will also be prominently displayed at a special autograph party in honor of Sonia Malkine which will follow a concert here in Woodstock on May 13. At that time she will appear in a program under the auspices of Performing Arts of Woodstock.

The Shady singer also has two other concerts slated in the near future. She will be performing in New York City this coming Friday and, again, at the City College of New York on March 14.

STA Is Briefed On N.Y. Lottery

State Senator Jay P. Rolison Jr. has suggested a cautious approach to the State Lottery to members of the Saugerties Teachers Association. Rolison also indicated that he has introduced a bill to mandate that caution.

Pointing out that the New Hampshire lottery revenue fell by almost 37 per cent in one year, Rolison reported that his proposed bill would prohibit the use of more than half of the net proceeds of the first full year of the lottery for repetitive or recurring items of educational expense until the state has had five years of experience with the lottery.

When the lottery was being discussed prior to the elections last November, ranges of net revenue to the state varied from a conservative $65-million to an optimistic $500-million.

Legislative leaders and financial experts now place a figure of $60-million in net state revenue, assuming four lotteries per year.

Must Sell $100 Million

Rolison reported to STA members that the state will have to sell $100-million worth of chances to net its $60-million.

According to Rolison's legislation, half of the net income would be ear-marked for recurring educational expenses with the other half slated for one-time expenditures. In the following four years, the amount for fixed or recurring expenditures would be frozen at the half-way point reached during the first year of operation and, if net revenues fall, the amount utilized for one year or one-time expenditures would be reduced as necessary.

After the five year trial period, the legislature and the state government would be able to plan for the future based on the lottery, without being tied to fixed educational expenses which could result in a tax increase.

The Senator also reported that the chances are 500,000 to one on winning a first place prize; 375,000 to one for second place; and 250,000 to one for third place. First place would pay $100,000; $75,000 would pay-off for second; and third place would be good for $50,000. The chances of a person hitting the $5,000 prize for fifth through 15th place are 33,000 to one. These figures are based on a $1-million drawing.

Rolison concluded that the lottery approach to partial financing of education is risky, and that anyone who thinks that a lottery is a way to get rich quick should give his conception a second thought.

Catalinotto Talks Of Court Cases

Michael Catalinotto, attorney and assistant police justice of Saugerties, was guest speaker at this week's meeting of the local Rotary Club. Introduced by Ben Rinaldi, program director, Catalinotto commented on the problems facing the courts in providing fair trials for the accused.

Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, president of the club, noted that attendance at this week's meeting at Anton's was at or near the 100 per cent mark. He also called for nomination of members for the position of directors, for three year terms, to be elected at the meeting on March 28. Noting that Rotary is trying to make 1967 a banner year for new members, the president urged that George Hamaty be contacted for information on possible prospects. It is hoped that Saugerties can come up with a good membership report for the District Governor at next month's conference at Kutscher's

Roving Rotarians from local club recently included Dr. Grant Morse at Cortland, Herman Snyder at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and Hank Sagazie at Catskill. Upcoming dates of importance to Rotarians are: March 15, District 721 Group Study Exchange Departure; March 19-25, World Understanding Week; April 16-18, District 721 Conference, Kutscher's

Registration Is Today in Village

Residents of the Village of Saugerties, one of only five such incorporated villages in Ulster County, are reminded that today is Registration Day. With a local election coming up Tuesday, March 21, new residents who meet voting requirements and older residents who, for one reason or another, failed to vote in recent years, must register in order to cast ballots at the polls later this month.

The terms of four village officials are expiring this year. Voters will be asked to elect a mayor and three trustees and the names listed on the ballot will include the current incumbents in these positions, all of whom are running without opposition.

Uncontested election or not, most citizens feel it a duty to vote and, unless properly registered, they will be unable to do so. Registration in Saugerties is scheduled today from 12 noon until 9 o'clock tonight in the Office of the Village Clerk. Today is the only day set aside for registration locally but, since the village does not have permanent personal registration, one need only call Village Clerk James Gage to register, if a personal trip to his office is impossible or inconvenient. Only newcomers or those who failed to vote in the last county or village election need call.

Board Appoints Town Historian

For the first time in several years, the Town of Saugerties will again have the services of a town historian. Meeting in regular session Thursday night, Supervisor Peter Williams and his colleagues appointed Charles Rothe Jr. as local historian. Rothe is new to the position this year and will assume office immediately. The post carries no salary and the new historian will be responsible for keeping important data concerning the town on file.

Town of Saugerties has had a town historian in the past but, in recent years, the position has been vacant.

According to Town Clerk Marion Newkirk, the board also requested Louis Francello, town attorney, to study the trailer, junkyard and smoke ordinances for Saugerties. Any report he makes will be taken into consideration when the board discusses the possibility of adopting the New York State ordinance governing junkyards.

At this week's meeting, the board also granted permission to the Village of Saugerties to rent and use the voting machines owned by the town in the village election slated here March 21. Members of the board also noted the receipt of invitations to attend the local Chief's Night sponsored by the Fire Department, and to participate in the annual Fourth of July parade here.

Supervisor Williams read for the record a letter received from Robert Rightmyer, chairmany of the Village of Saugerties Planning Board. Rightmyer offered the services of his board in aiding and abetting the realization or materialization of a Town Planning Board for the Town of Saugerties. Town Board members have been discussing the possibility of appointing such a body for some time.

Announce Plans To Renovate, Add To Forsyth Zoo

A general improvement and expansion project at Forsyth Park Zoo, off Lucas Avenue, undertaken by Kingston Jaycees, is expected to be completed in time for a grand opening in early in May.

The local Jaycee committee appointed in December met with members of the City Recreation Commission and plans for the renovation of buildings, shelters and cages and arrangements to add new animals to the zoo were advanced.

This week representatives of both groups inspected the zoo with Roland Lindemann, president of Catskill Game Farm; Frank Dovigh, assistant director; Andrew J. Murphy III, superintendent of the recreation department, and Lawrence Hyatt, park foreman. Lindemann made several recommendations and offered to furnish a number of larger animals, some of which have never been displayed at the local zoo. Contact will be made with other establishments for birds and smaller animals to completely fill the zoo's 22 cages.

The Jaycee committee includes Frank McMahon, chairman; Ernest Rowe, William Dederick, and Grady Montgomery. Recreation commissioners assisting in the project are Mrs. Herbert Shultz and Harford Shultis Jr.

Say Teen Boys Were Executed In Vacant Park

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — Sheriff Herbert T. Brown says the killing of two teen-age cousins in a public park was a deliberately planned execution.

The victims, Wayne Mullendore and his cousin, Ronald Johnson, both 14, were found Thursday night in an isolated pavilion in Levings Park on Rockford's southwest side. Each had been shot twice.

Brown, sheriff of Winnebago County, said evidence uncovered thus far indicates the cousins were driven to the park, forced to kneel facing a concrete wall in a pavilion and each was shot in the back of he head.

The killer, Brown said, then shot each of the youths in the stomach after they had fallen.

The boys were found by sheriffs deputies who responded to a telephone call from an unidentified person — at first believed a woman — who reported two men had been murdered in the park.

"It was a methodical and deliberate act, Brown said. "It may have been the work of a juvenile. It appears to have been a premeditated execution done with ceremony.

The victims were described by their families and authorities as clean-cut, church-going youngsters who never had been in trouble.

Seek Witness

Investigators were seeking the anonymous telephone caller, who they speculated may have witnessed the double killing or may have been a participant.

Deputy Sheriff William Wertman, who took the call Thursday night, said at first the caller was a woman. Friday Wertman said the caller could have been "an excited young man.

Wertman said that when he attempted to get the callers name, the telephoner said "to hell with them. Just let them lay there and die.

Authorities questioned pupils at Wilson Junior High School, which both victims attended.

The fathers of the two youths, Joseph Mullendore and Victor Johnson, are employed in Rockford factories.

Goldberg on Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — The biggest bar to peace in Vietnam, U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg said today, "is that our willingness to go to the conference table is not shared by the other side."

The U.S. ambassador to the United Nations addressed a news conference before departing for Manila on the last leg of his five-nation Asian tour.

"I cannot say that there are any new peace proposals under way. I saw this regrettably," he told questioners.

Goldberg said the question whether the National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong, would be directly represented at any peace negotiations "is not an insurmountable problem . . . if there was a genuine desire on Hanoi's part for talks."

one regular legislative session has passed.

Five bills, all introduced by conservative Midwesterners, would limit daylight saving time to the period from Memorial Day to Labor Day, chopping off one month at the start and seven weeks at the end.

Much of the opposition to the law last year came from Midwestern farm groups who contended the change in time would upset cows, who they noted behave according to the sun, not the clock.

Finally, there is the proposal by Rep. Richard White, a Democrat from El Paso, Tex., who wants El Paso moved from Central Standard Time to Mountain Standard Time.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, which is the nation's timekeeper, has been besieged with complaints about the new law, a spokesman said.

Fortunately, he added, on the day it takes effect, the responsibility will shift to the new Department of Transportation.

Governor Downs Arkansas Bets

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Legalized gambling for Hot Springs, Ark., approved Friday by the Arkansas House, faces another defeat at the hands of Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller like that it suffered from the voters in 1964.

Several hours after the Senate bill to allow gambling at private clubs, cleared the house 52-43, Rockefeller issued a statement saying he would not sign the measure "under any circumstances."

He did not say he would veto it. He said he thought voters would want to "immediately let your legislators know how you feel about this question."

His statement was interpreted as a move to mobilize public opinion against the measure and give the legislature an opportunity to recall it.

There is no such thing as a pocket veto in Arkansas. If Rockefeller does not act on the bill within five days it will become law.

"Under present circumstances," the governor said, "the Senate could recall the bill. I hope that it will."

The governor noted that voters overwhelmingly defeated a proposed constitutional amendment in 1964 that would have legalized gambling at Hot Springs.

The bill, approved 18-16 by the Senate Thursday, creates a five-member state crime commission that could license and regulate gambling in up to four private clubs in Garland County — one for each 15,000 persons in the county where Hot Springs is the seat.

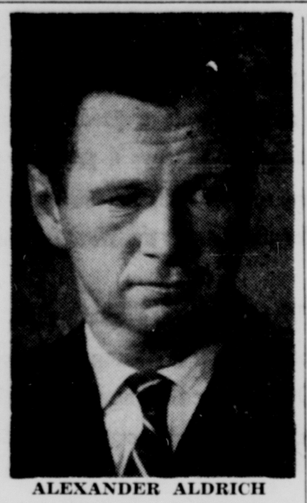

The state would receive eight per cent of the gross receipts.

Divers Seek Girl, Father After Wreck

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Police scuba divers resumed their search today in the icy Black Rock Canal for a man and his daughter, believed drowned when his automobile crashed into the water Friday.

Witnesses said the car appeared to be traveling at 80 or 90 miles an hour when it smashed through barriers at the foot of Porter Street, on the city's westside. The vehicle plunged through ice and sank.

Police believed the car contained Roosevelt Miles, 32, and his daughter, Sionette, 5.

They said Miles' estranged wife, Terry, told them she refused to admit Miles to her home Friday morning. She said he kicked in a front porch window, grabbed his daughter and sped away in the car with her.

The car was recovered from the canal, which is 20 feet deep at the accident scene.

More Money for Hospitals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., urges a sharp increase in the federal contribution to state-operated hospitals and nursing homes for veterans.

Stratton introduced a bill in Congress Friday under which the federal contribution would range from $3.50 a day per patient in a nursing home to $10 a day for hospital care. The range now is $2.50 to $3.50.

The Amsterdam Democrat said the present rate of federal assistance "is clearly not in keeping with the rising cost of medical care."

List Negro Birchers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A spokesman for the John Birch Society says the organization now includes about 400 Negro members.

John H. Rousselot, Birch Society public relations director, told a City College audience that some of the group's Negro members hold staff positions and are in demand as speakers.

"They (Negroes) know we're not in favor of white power or black power—just the power of all Americans," said Rousselot.

the courts say Congress had the authority to do it.

While even the outlines of Powell's legal challenge are not yet known it is expected the issus his lawyers raise will be so important and so complex that the Supreme Court will have to give a final answer.

If the court's answer favors Powell, a major constitutional controversy could erupt should Congress refuse to submit. Such an impasse presumably would last until one or the other gave in.

To those favoring Powell's exclusion, the power to expell — explicitly given Congress by the Constitution — clearly implies the power to refuse to seat.

Speaks Vaguely

And since the Constitution is not clear on grounds for expulsion — it speaks vaguely of "disorderly behavior" — the grounds for exclusion can be formulated by Congress, it is argued.

For instance, Rep. Thomas B. Curtis, R-Mo., said Wednesday, violation of "the Commandment that thou shalt not steal."

On such inexplicit grounds, Congress expelled three members in 1861 for having served in the Confederate army, excluded Brigham Roberts of Utah in 1900 on grounds of polygamy and in 1921 barred Victor Berger, a Socialist convicted under the espionage law.

To Powell and his lawyers, Congress had no right at all to keep the Harlem Democrat from taking his elected seat.

They argue that Powell's conduct could be the subject of House penalty action only after he was seated. They further contend the only conduct that could be the basis for a penalty was Powell's conduct since the current Congress opened in January.

Not a Basis

The alleged spending of public funds on himself was investigated during the last Congress and cannot be the basis for exclusion from this Congress, they argue. And his alleged defiance of New York courts, they say, is beyond the legislative process.

How Powell will make his attack and in what court is not known.

He presumably could argue that he is suffering damage because of his exclusion from the House — that he is denied the congressional income to which he is entitled by his election.

And almost certainly he'll argue that the select committee — which recommended he be seated but punished — found he met the three requirements of the Constitution for membership in the House: that a member be at least 25 years old, have been a citizen for seven years and be an inhabitant of the state from which he was elected.

The resolution that excluded Powell conceded he met those requirements.

The legal fight could be launched in a U.S. District Court, in a special three-judge federal court — or, possibly, his former constituents might sue to try to block New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller from calling an election to fill the vacancy caused by Powell's exclusion.

GRENADA, Miss. (AP) — Fire early today damaged the interior of the Vincent Chapel A.M.E., a church used by the Southern Christian Leadership Conference for mass meetings on civil rights. No one was injured.

Say Castroites Killed Official From Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The Venezuelan Cabinet met in emergency session early today, hours after the body of former social security chief Julio Iribarren Borges was found in a slaying linked to Castroite terrorists.

The ministers who gathered in President Raul Leoni's home at midnight were believed considering whether to suspend constitutional guarantees again in an effort to help capture the killers and prevent more terrorism.

Constitutional rights which were suspended Dec. 13 after a surge of terrorism chiefly against American-owned businesses were restored Thursday.

During the 11-week period, police were empowered to arrest suspects without warrants, hold them indefinitely without bail and enter suspected terrorist hideouts without court permission.

Iribarren Borges, brother of Foreign Minister Ignacio Iribarren Borges, lost popularity among businessmen this year when he ordered social security taxes increased. His death did not appear related to the tax boost, however.

Covering the body when it was found by police six miles outside Caracas were pamphlets of the Armed Forces of National Liberation — FALN — a pro-Castro paramilitary group. They said three public figures would be assassinated for every FALN member killed and "three other political figures are on our list."

City Man Assaulted With Kitchen Knife

The steak knife slashing of a city man — in "apparently fair" condition at Kingston Hospital with 40 sutures required to close face wounds —Friday night led to the arrest of a Franklin Street woman on a charge of second degree assault.

Patrolmen Gerald Tierney and Joseph Kivlan identified the defendent as Patricia Ridriquez, 28, of 73 Franklin Street. She was confined to Ulster County Jail in lieu of $5,000 bail pending a court appearance today.

The victim of the slashing, which occurred in the front hallway of Miss Rodriquez' residence, was Jose Vargas Suarez, 31, who's address is listed by the hospital as 43 Franklin Street.

The incident occurred about 8 p. m. The patrolmen responded after a report was received of a man who's face was "all cut and bleeding."

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Joseph E. Persico of Albany is Gov. Rockefeller's new assistant secretary for reports, filling a post that has been vacant for almost six years.

The governor named Persico, 36, to the $24,000-a-year post Friday. Persico has been an associate planning director in the State Health Department.

Persico was born in Gloversville. He is a graduate of the State University of New York at Albany, a U.S. Navy veteran of the Korean War and is a former cultural attache at the U.S. embassies in Rio de Janeiro and Buenos Aires.

The position on the governor's staff had been vacant since April 1961, when Charles H. Palmer was promoted to assistant secretary to the governor with over-all administrative responsibilities.

THOMAS W. REYNOLDS JR.

Photograper Will Combine Studios At Uptown Site

Consolidation and expansion of the Tom Reynolds Studios on Broadway with the Pennington Studio on Main Street—both in Kingston will take place by the end of the month.

Thomas W. Reynolds Jr., well-known area professional photographer made the announcement. His new combined studios will be at 270 Fair Street Kingston: where all personnel, clerical and technical, will locate.

Under Construction

Housed in quarters that have been under construction since the first of the year, the new set-up can easily be described as the largest, most sumptuous facility of its type in this and adjacent areas.

Known as "Tom" in various fields of business, social and charitable endeavor, Reynolds is striking a high note in achievement as he climaxes his professional career with much new equipment and facilities that reflect pure optimism for the area, and courage for the future.

"In addition to our dark room and production room," he said, "We have created a reception room, three sales consulting rooms, two dressing rooms, the studio itself, a business consulting room and a private office."

Decor, he added, would be Early American with the entire suite comfort-conditioned for year round, all-season desirability.

Reynolds said, "we can now delver precision processing plus techniques that result in better service and superior quality."

The tall, well-built careerist would not reveal details of his personnel expansion program and merchandise line because "those phases have not totally firmed-up sufficiently to describe at this time."

He pointed out that some startling inovations would be announced shortly.

Born in Poughkeepsie, Reynolds attended local schools, always living in Kingston. After attending RPI and Rutgers University in New Brunswick he started in business in 1952 in Saugerties, and was active in community functioning there.

He served as president of Saugerties Chamber of Commerce. He is a second vice president of the Professional Photographers Society of New York. A member of Kingston Rotary, he functioned as division chairman in the recent Community Chest Campaign. Presently, he devotes his time to the chairmanship of the Advisory Board of the Salvation Armv.

The committee will announce later various acts scheduled to appear on the show.

Faces Vehicle Charges

Lenville Relyea, 68, of 90 Henry Street, was charged with driving while intoxicated, failure to have a registration certificate and being an unlicensed operator of a motor vehicle Friday. His arrest came after an accident involving his auto and three parked cars. City police said the Relyea car, eastbound on Henry Street, struck a car owned by Virginia C. Donovan, Watson Hollow Road, West Shokan, and parked in front of 38 Henry Street, near Sterling. HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

I wonder if other women who sew, realize how many ideas they can get from mail order catalogs?

We all have favorite patterns —that make good-looking, comfortable clothes—but we don't want half a dozen skirts, etc., made just alike.

As you study the clothes in a catalog, you may find a novel-shaped pocket, or one with fringe (made by raveling out the bottom of the pocket material), or perhaps a couple of tabs inserted under the waistband with mock buttonholes at the ends and pretty buttons on them.

Instead of a straight hem, why not one with points all around the bottom of the skirt—sort of a harlequin effect?

Once you really start looking at the ready-made clothes, you'll find dozens of little ideas which are easy to copy, and which will give your clothes that professional touch.

You'll be able to use that much-liked pattern over and over, and no one will ever guess because of the "special" changes you made.

Doris

Wowie! What a great idea!

I've said it before and I'll say it again. It's ingenious women like Doris that are the backbone of all families.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

May I contribute something I found for keeping my children's shoes straight in the closet?

I just clip the pairs together with snap clothespins and never have to rummage around looking for a mate.

I haven't shelf space and I don't have money for shoe valets.

Dear Heloise:

If every homemaker would sit down and plan her menus for an entire week, she will have more nutritional meals, much less repetition, and save $$$$ on her budget.

I know, because I've been doing it for years.

Dear Heloise:

Here is what I do if the keys on my typewriter become clogged or smudgy.

I pour a small amount of rubbing alcohol on a soft cloth and rub over the keys gently.

This will cean the keys very nicely.

And if you will put a blotter in the roller backwards and type real fast while these keys are still moist, you'll really be surprised how celan they'll be.

I find if I glue small wooden knobs onto the flat lids of canister sets, the tops are easy to lift off.

It sure saves lots of broken fingernails.

Dear Heloise:

This is the neat way I use plastic pill bottles while traveling.

I put stamps, shampoo, detergent, stain remover, powdered bubble bath, etc., in them.

I label them with sticky seals.

When I travel I take only small amounts, so why take a big bottle or jar?

Real space-savers.

Dear Heloise:

Our teen-age daughter (who has a single bed) wanted to be able to have a girl friend spend the night with her occasionally. There was no place for her friend to sleep—and we didn't feel we could afford to buy another bed.

Her father found an old, smooth door (which had been scrapped), bought ready-to-use legs and put them on the corners. Then we put a foam rubber mattress on it.

I made a darling slipcover for it and when the bed is not in use for sleeping, it makes a very attractive sofa for lounging.

When you have cooked prunes and end up with "no juice," as I so often do, try adding some orange juice.

Pineapple and apricot juice are also good.

Halibut Is Accented With Marinara Sauce

BROILED HALIBUT WITH MARINARA SAUCE

If you're a health-conscious homemaker who schedules fish or seafood meals regularly and often, you'll be interested in new evidence that what you're doing makes sense. In an eight-year experiment conducted by New York City's Department of Health, men whose "Prudent Diet" included five fish meals a week suffered only one-third as many heart attacks as men in a control group on ordinary diets. How fortunate, if fish is to be eaten so often, that it's amenable to many styles of cooking. The suggestion here from the Halibut Association of North America is for broiling and bright sauce for halibut steaks.

Broiled Halibut with Marinara Sauce

2 lbs. holibut steaks, fresh or frozen
Melted butter or margarine
Juice of 1 lemon
Salt, pepper and paprika

If halibut is frozen, let stand at room temperature 30 minutes. Place on greased pre-heated broiler pan about 2 inches from heat. Brush with melted butter and squeeze half of lemon juice over steak. Sprinkle with seasonings. Broil 5 to 8 minutes, or until slightly brown. Turn carefully. Repeat melted butter, lemon juice and seasonings. Broil 5 to 8 minutes, or until fish flakes easily. Top broiled steaks with Marinara sauce makes 4 servings.

Marinara Sauce

2 tablespoons salad oil
¼ cup chopped clery
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
¼ 1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon cayenne
¼ teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon oregano
½ teaspoon basil
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 No. 2½ can tomatoes

Heat salad oil in a large frying pan. Ann celery and cook until tender. Add remaining ingredients and cook over low heat until liquid is reduced and mixture is slightly thick, about 30 minutes. Serve over broiled halibut steaks. Makes enough sauce for 4 servings.

Dear Abby . . .

'Buy American Only' Mom Is Mixed Up

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have just about had it. My mother won't let me date anyone but AMERICANS. No Spanish, no Italians, no nothing. Just Americans.

One time I asked her if I could invite this real nice guy over and she said, "He's CATHOLIC!" I try to tell her they aren't any lower than we are. What's wrong with Italians, Spanish, and Catholics?

One time she said to me, "Haven't you got any AMERICAN friends? But I just can't wait for a Smith or a Jones to walk up and ask me for a date.

I always end up arguing with my mother and crying my eyes out. Can you help me?

AN AMERICAN

DEAR AMERICAN: Most "Americans" are composites of many ethnic, nationality, and religious backgrounds. Had your mother's forebearers pursued her philosophy, both of you might have been Indians, — or Asiatics, which might have been O. K., But courtesy, decency, and kindness are what count. So try that on your "Buy American Only" Mom.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I am 29 and have a three-year-old son. I am not married and never was, and I don't pretend otherwise. I anticipate some questions soon from my son about his "Daddy." And I intend to handle them in an absolutely honest manner. I refuse to make up a lot of lies as most unwed mothers do. "Your Daddy was killed in the war — or he died in an accident before you were born."

I want my son to grow up knowing the truth so he can learn to live with it as he matures. His father was a no good bum and I am not sorry now that he refused to marry me. I have a friend who says I am dead wrong. I would like your opinion.

UNWED MOTHER

DEAR UNWED: I vote with your friend. Are you sure you are not more intent on punishing your son for the "sins" of his father than in being "absolutely honest?" A fatherless child suffers enough without knowing that his father was a "no good bum" who refused to marry his mother. Think it over. Then change your mind.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: When I am baby-sitting and a stranger comes to the door, how should I handle the situation? The lights are on, so the person knows that someone is home. Please answer soon as some of my girl friends have the same problem, and they would also like to know. I am 16.

SITTER

DEAR SITTER: NEVER — and I repeat — NEVER open the door for a stranger. If he asks to use the telephone, tell him you are sorry but you can't let him in. If he says he wants to "deliver" something, ask him to please leave it on the porch.. Under NO circumstances should you open the door to a stranger.

City Man Named Committee Head By Ranger Unit

Francis Coughlin, retired city fireman, was recently elected chairman of the membership committee of Northeast Chapter I of the Ranger Battalions Association of World War II held at Westfield, Mass.

Plans were dicussed regarding a proposal to form a new chapter of the Northeast Section of the unit. The new chapter would encompass the states of Connecticut, Massachusetts, Vermont, Maine, New Hampshire and the upper part of New York State from Newburgh north to Buffalo.

Final action on the plan will take place at the group's national reunion to be held Aug. 3 to 6 in New York City.

After the recent session held in Tonelli's Little River Inn, a buffet dinner was served. Attending were members and their wives.

Another meeting is planned for this summer, when rules and bylaws will be adopted for the new chapter.

Robert Ehalt of New York City, vice-president, and Harold Wilson, also of New York City, treasurer of the Association, attended the Westfield meeting. Zigmund Burek of that city was host member.

Awakening An Urban Area

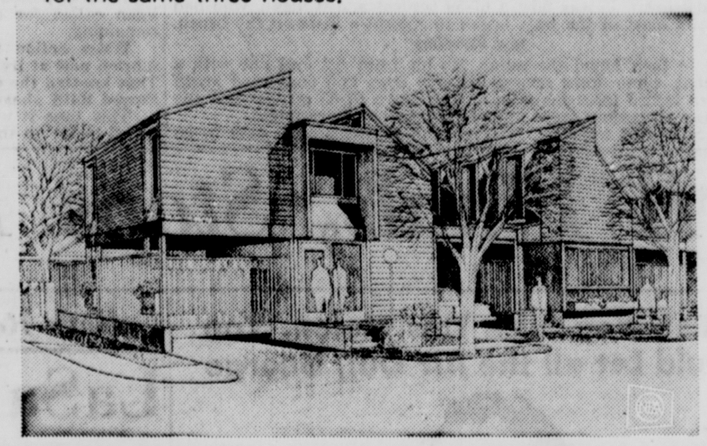

Unattractive, aging, close-fitting residential areas exist in every major city, yet a promise of new life through redesign of such existing conditions has been suggested by architect Norman Perttula. Taking an actual neighborhood corner in Cleveland, Ohio, he presents a plan for transforming old, but well-maintained houses, into a complex of comfortable and attractive modern structures. For example, above is pictured part of the existing neighborhood and below is a sketch of Perttula's plans for the same three houses.

AS MUCH as possible, the plan calls for building around existing structures, striving for attractiveness inside and out. Above is a sketch of a proposed exterior and pictured below is a fragment of an interior plan. Reconstruction of the area was developed in scale for the Cleveland Home and Flower Show, Feb. 25 through Mar. 5. Perttula's plan carries the hope that a new generation might be encouraged to live in beautified central parts of a city, instead of always moving to the suburbs.

New Compact Ranch House Plan With Two Bedrooms

By JACK McELENEY

This week, Associated Architects have for you a compact plan, ranch house with two bedrooms, occupying a 25 by 34-foot area. A breezeway and garage, included in the plans, may be built along with the house, if desired, or omitted at present and added at some later date. The house alone stands up beautifully, from a design point of view.

One of the reasons is a sturdy, handsome outside chimney, denoting a fireplace in the living room. A second reason is the modern-looking window wall. There is something solid-looking about "The Pemberton," as this plan is called.

The blueprint calls for a building of rectangular design, appealing in its basic simplicity, and incidentally, the least expensive form of building to construct. Were there odd shapes here and there, there would have to be necessary additions to the cost of foundation, basement, walls and so forth.

The master bedroom here is 11¼ by 12¾ feet, punctuated by charming, efficient windows and a wardrobe (rather than a closet) whose sliding doors add materially to the available wall space. The second bedroom, 9x12¼ feet, is similarly equipped with windows and a closet. Outside, in the hall, a convenient linen closet solves storage problems of sheets and towels. The bath opposite is full size, with tub located in a custom-like niche away from the window and the wash basin is beyond the swing of the bathroom door.

From this short hall you may enter the kitchen or the living room. Let's glance into the kitchen first, where we find the arrangement of work and storage areas has been made with the comfort of the homemaker topmost in mind. In the corner fits a full dinette ensemble, a cheery place for meals because of the rear window lighting the space.

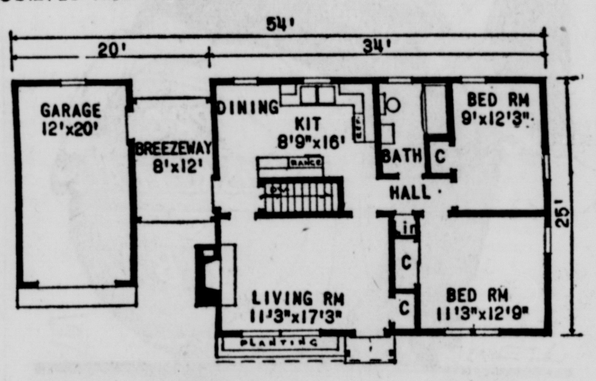

Continuing on around we pace by the stairway to the basement just before entering the living room. The stairs are conveniently near the back door, so that there is a direct route between garage and basement. Keeps the house much cleaner.

There's plenty of fun and relaxation in an 11¼ by 17¼-foot living room, such as you'll find in "The Pemberton." It's not difficult to picture your TV set, your sofa or desk in this room, along with companion pieces of furniture. When guests come a-knocking, they hang their coats in the closet to the right of the front door.

Plans for "The Pemberton" may be ordered by using the coupon below. Just be sure to say if you want them with or without basement. The living area of this home is 850 square feet; breezeway and garage provide another 336 square feet.

Three Are Injured In Clinton Mishap

Three youths were injured one critically when the car in which they were riding went out of control at 2:15 a. m. today and crashed into a guard rail on Route 9G, Town of Clinton.

Trooper Edward Strieder of the Rhinebeck-Hyde Park substation said Eugene Doerflinger, 19, of Massapequa, L. I., a passenger in the car, was thrown from the rear seat to the front of the vehicel by the impact.

Doerflinger was taken to St. Francis' Hospital, Poughkeepsie, and treated for multiple severe injuries of the head. His condition was listed as critical.

Joseph Tighe, 23, of Mansion Street, Poughkeepsie, operator of the car, and another passenger, Walter Kuhn, 21, of Staatsburg, were treated at the hospital for minor injuries.

Trooper Strieder said Tighe was driving north on the highway when he lost control of the vehicle and it plowed through the guard rail. The mishap is still under investigation.

Faces Murder First

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A 54-year-old man who, police say, shot his estranged wife in the garage of her home here, has been indicted on a charge of first-degree murder.

A Monroe County grand jury returned the indictment Friday against Charles H. Logan of Buffalo in the shotgun death last Monday of Mrs. Rosie Lee Logan, 31.

Police said Mrs. Logan, the mother of two, was preparing to leave for her job at Eastman Kodak Co. when she was killed.

Logan moved to Buffalo after the couple separated about four months ago, but he continued to commute to work here daily, investigators said.

Burglars Take $75,000 in Furs, Gems From Diva

NEW YORK (AP) — Burglars made off with $75,000 worth of Leontyne Price's furs, jewelry and concert gowns Thursday night while she was singing "Aida" at the Metropolitan Opera.

When the prima donna arrived at her town house in Greenwich Village early Friday she found her housekeeper trussed up.

The housekeeper, Lulu Schumacher, told police the doorbell rang about 10 p.m. and a man said through the door that he had flowers to deliver.

She told him to leave them at the door. Some minutes later she opened the door to get the flowers, and found two men still waiting there, their faces hidden behind masks made of stockings.

She said they grabbed her, forced her inside, tied her hands behind her back and left her lying on the living room floor while they ransacked a second floor bedroom.

They took five fur coats, diamond rings, a bracelet, diamond studded pins and several concert gowns.

William Wallace, son of Abraham Lincoln, died in the White House at the age of 12.

Accuse Highland Man in Dutchess Assault Incident

A 35-year-old Town of Lloyd man was in the Dutchess County jail today awaiting grand jury action on a charge of second degree assault as the aftermath of an incident which occurred on East Dorsey Lane, Hyde Park.

Trooper Edward Strieder of Rhinebeck-Hyde Park substation told The Freeman that Richard Cooper, an inspector of 48 Milton Avenue, Highland, waived preliminary examination before Justice of the Peace George Harrington and was committed to the Dutchess County jail in lieu of $1,000 bail pending grand jury action.

According to investigation by Troopers Hugh Mc Nallen and Frank Dierwiler, Luis Juncusa, 20, of 24 Lincoln Avenue, Poughkeepsie, drove his girl friend to her home on East Dorsey Lane at about 2 a. m. today.

Juncusa told authorities later that as he headed his car into the driveway at the girl's home, Cooper appeared from the darkness, jumped into the car and allegedly wielded a knife in a threatening manner. The girl, not identified, fled into her home.

Juncusa leaped from the car and ran to a nearby house and telephoned troopers. Meanwhile, Cooper allegedly slashed the upholstery on the seats of Juncusa's car.

Troopers Mc Nallen and Dierwiler responded to the call and took Cooper into custody.

BCI Investigator Joseph Colligan will continue the investigation.

KHS Nips Clarkstown, 76-73, to Reach Section 9 Finals

BY ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Bruce Gilligan's two foul shots with 17 seconds to play and another pair of charity flips by Pete Watzka in the last three seconds were the difference last night at the Valley Central School as Kingston High won an ulcerated 76-73 Class A Section Nine contest from Clarkstown.

In advancing to the finals against Newburgh Free Academy next Friday at Elting Gymnasium on the New Paltz State campus, coach John Gilligan's DUSO and defending Section Nine champions had to give one of their best performances of the season against their Rockland County opponents.

Overcome Deficit

Coach Ed McGrath's cagers blistered the cords for 30 baskets in 50 attempts, a 60 per cent mark. They came from a 10-point deficit in the last quarter to take the lead, only to lose the margin and the game in those final seconds.

This one has to rank as one of the top games of the fading cage season. There was a little bit of everything.

Though the KHS players who saw action turned in good performances, it was the play of Bruce Gilligan which led to the triumph.

Giving the slim crowd a superb show in a near-route going performance, the elder of the Gilligan brothers scored 34 points, most of them in clutch situations.

Phenominal Performance

He hit on seven of 11 field goal attempts and was a fantastic 20 for 24 from the foul line. Included was a string of 11 straight. Bruce G. also pulled down 19 rebounds. In short, he was just phenominal.

The Rams moved quickly in front at the start of the game and had a 20-15 bulge at the end of the first period. They showed what kind of a night it would be for the Colonials, making nine of 15 field goal attempts and doing good work on the boards.

Bruce G. tallied 14 points in the second period and reserve Mike Derrenbacher added eight as the locals moved to a 43-39 lead at the interim. Derrenbacher replaced Ken Gilligan, who had his poorest night of the campaign.

Watzka, who always seems to rise to the occasion when the pressure is greatest, picked up his fourth foul at the 2:10 mark of the third period. His team was in front, 56-47, and Watzka had played the entire tilt to that point.

Hectic Quarter

A bucket by steady A. J. Murphy at the third quarter buzzer gave the Maroon a commanding 10-point lead, 63-53, beginning the final session. What a hectic eight minutes this stanza turned into.

After John Orange hooked one in for the losers, Bruce converted two foul shots for his club to keep the lead at 10 points. Then, guard Bob Natale started to sizzle and before you realized it, the Rams were not only in contention, they were in front.

Natale and Murphy exchanged deuces and then Orange, held to 13 points by Murphy's tenacious defense, came back with a layup for Clarkstown. It was now a 67-59 contest and Gilligan, who had been calm most of the way, began to squirm a little on the bench.

Hot Shooting

Natale then found the range. He hit from the foul line with a jump shot, came down several seconds later and connected again and then tallied from the side. It was now a 67-65 contest and the defending champions were not only cold, they were frigid.

Derrenbacher missed a 1-1 foul shot situation with 4:30 to go and Reed Hoffer of Clarkstown proceeded to knot the score with a long jumper.

Watzka missed a foul shot at the 3:37 mark and the red hot, Natale hit from the side to give the Rams a 69-67 lead. There were less than 600 spectators but the gymnasium sounded like a Madison Square Garden crowd when the city schools play. Just when it appeared the KHS cagers would fold, Bruce G. was still around. His drive down the middle knotted the count at 69 with 1:50 still left. This one was going down to the wire, of that there was no doubt.

After the Rams were called for an infraction, Bruce G. was fouled. He calmly made both attempts and Kingston led, 71-69.

Again, the Rams lost control and again Bruce was hacked. Bruce made one of two for a three point spread. But with a minute and a half still to be ticked off, this one was far from over.

Greg McNeil came back with a jump shot for Clarkstown and then Natale connected from the right side, giving the Rockland County club a 73-72 lead with only 38 seconds remaining. Wow!

Hanna Blows Pair

Big Leon Hanna, hampered by a first half ankle injury and by the tough defense of the visitors, was fouled with 22 seconds to go. He had two chances at the line and missed both. It appeared as if his team's sectional hopes were also gone. Such was not the case.

Murphy, who always seemed to be in the right place at the right time, pulled down the rebound on the second miss and Gilligan called for a time out. The clock showed 18 seconds still remaining.

When action was resumed, Bruce G. was fouled. With the tension now at its highest point, Bruce fired the charity flip. Swish. That knotted the count. The second one also found the range and it shoved KHS ahead, 74-73.

This time it was the Rams' turn to ask for a time out. They hoped to set up the shot which would win the game.

Enter Mr. Watzka, another of the heroes. He bloced a shot with 10 seconds left and then on the ensuing jump ball, won the toss to give his club precious possession.

Clinches Win

Pete was fouled with three seconds left and he clinched the verdict by making both tries. The Rams got off a desperation shot at the buzzer but it fell short.

When the firing was finished, statistics showed Clarkstown with seven more field goals, 30-23. But, the Rams played a tough nose to nose defense and it resulted in 27 personal fouls. Kingston was 30 for 42 from the charity stripe against 13 for 18 for the losers. That was the difference.

In scoring 34 points, Bruce G. set a seasonal record for the KHS team and also hit his career high. The others didn't tally as much but they all had a hand in the triumph. They included the reserves—Derrenbacher and Ray Lindhorst.

Kingston will defend its championship Friday, 7 p. m., at New Paltz State against Newburgh. It promises to be a good match. But, can it equal last night's for excitement?

Producing an all-around team effort, Rondout Valley advanced to the finals of Class B in the Section Nine tournament with a 64-57 win over Monticello last night at Ellenville High School.

Coach Chick Meehans (15-4) Ganders moved in front at the start and stopped several Panther bids. Though he scored 29 points, Willie Bradley of the Monties was held in check on the boards.

Gordie Taylor rimmed 23 points to pace the offense. Pete Kilduff and Doug Doyle were also in double figures.

Bradley's 29 gave him 500 for the season, a record at Monticello for the hot shooting junior ace.

Rondout will play Washingtonville Friday, 8:30 p. m., at New Paltz State for the championship. Washingtonville stopped Suffern-Pearl River, 74-67, last night as veteran Sam Quimby scored 29 points.

Newburgh Turns Back Spring Valley, 59-50

It will be a Newburgh-Kingston final for the second straight year in the Section Nine Class A championship playoff.

The Goldbacks turned back Rockland County champion Spring Valley, 59-50, last night in Tarpan Zee to join the KHS quintet in the finals.

Bill Briggs, an unheralded reserve, was the difference for coach Mickey Burkoski's team. He scored 14 points, 12 of them in the second half.

After falling behind, 8-0, at the start, the DUSO second place finishers made it 15-10 at the quarter step and were in front, 31-21, at the half. They remained in front the rest of the way.

Bill Dockstader scored 15 points for the winners. Briggs had 14, Lorenzo Moore 12 and Steve Gruberg 10.

Newburgh and Kingston will meet Friday, 7 o'clock, at the State University gym in New Paltz with the Class A championship on the line.

Peggy Fleming Paces Women's Free Skating

By MARTIN ZUCKER

VIENNA (AP) — The 1967 World Figure Skating Championships end tonight with the women's free skating finale, and pretty Peggy Fleming is rated a cinch to give the United States its only gold medal here.

Peggy, an 18-year-old college freshman from Colorado Springs, Colo., piled up a 70-point lead in the compulsory figures. Experts say she is now unbeatable.

The big question is who will finish second, Canada's Valerie Jones or East Germany's Gabriele Seyfert.

Miss Jones has a slim 10-point lead over the German girl, who finished second last year and is a strong free skater.

Vienna couldn't have been happier at Friday night's results as hometowners Emmerich Danzer and Wolfgang Schwarz finished 1-2 in the men's competition.

Gary Visconti, the 21-year-old U.S. champion from Detroit, moved up from fifth place after the compulsories to third place — and this despite a fall during his free skating.

The Danzer - Schwarz - Visconti finish was just the way things turned out last year at the championships in Davos, Switzerland.

Mrs. Jane Sullivan, the American judge who has been a target of criticism and boos since the competition opened, because of her low scoring, had another rough time Friday night.

She was booed when her name was announced as one of the nine judges. And she was booed again and again during the competition.

She had the lowest scores for six of the 20 men skaters, including champion Danzer and runner-up Schwarz. She also gave Allen the lowest marks he received.

Big Ten Moguls Want Illini Coaches Fired

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—The University of Illinois suffered a second setback in its $21,000 slush fund scandal Friday, but ducked through a conference loophole to avert immediate Big Ten punishment.

Big Ten faculty representatives dealt the second blow. The first came Feb. 22 from a jury of conference athletic directors who denied an Illinois bid to retain three coaches involved in illegal aid to athletes.

Like the athletic directors, the faculty group went by the rule book, insisting Illinois fire the three coaches or suffer the consequences.

However, Illinois insisted before the faculty representatives that it was only appealing the decision of the athletic directors and not appealing the order to "show cause" why its conference membership should not be suspended or terminated for failure to fire the coaches.

Has Two Weeks

Illinois' action gained the university two weeks in which to decide the status of football Coach Pete Elliott, basketball Coach Harry Combes and assistant basketball Coach Howie Braun.

The faculty group said that on or before March 17, Illinois must respond to Big Ten Commissioner Bill Reed concerning these questions:

— Will the university retain on its athletic staff coaches Elliott, Combes and Braun? If the answer is "no" the case is closed.

— If the answer is "yes" as concerns any of the coaches, will you discuss with the commissioner dates convenient for a hearing at which the university is invited to show cause why its membership in the conference should not be suspended or terminated?.

However, Plant said he could not comment on any possible punishment from the National Collegiate Athletic Association, which figures to step into the case once the Big Ten has completed its action.

Meanwhile, in Champaign, Dr. David D. Henry, president of the university, said he was "shocked" by the decision of the faculty representatives.

Dr. Henry, who revealed the slush fund to the Big Ten in mid-December when he first learned about it, said he would have no further comment until he studied the report and met with other university officers and groups concerned.

Dr. Henry previously has gone to bat for the three coaches. If and when Illinois decides to "show cause" why it believes the punishment is "too harsh," it is expected that the university will base its case on the fact it acted swiftly and revealed its own findings.

LaSalle Stuns St. Joseph's, UCLA Captures 24th Straight

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The top-ranked, unbeaten UCLA Bruins won their 24th straight, but it was the LaSalle Explorers who grabbed the headlines in college basketball Friday night.

LaSalle, whose coach, Joe Heyer, was hung in effigy earlier in the week by some of the student body, stunned the St. Joseph's Hawks 73-70 in the first round of the Middle Atlantic Conference championship tournament in Philadelphia. UCLA walloped Stanford on the road 75-47.

LaSalle, beaten only last Sunday by the Hawks 96-83, got into the MAC playoffs because its poor 13-11 record still was better than some of the other MAC clubs.

Led by Larry Cannon, who scored 22 points, the Explorers went on a 19-3 spurt in the second half that erased an 11-point deficit and gave them the lead at 69-64. The Hawks rallied to within 71-70, but a long pass from Joe Markmann to Chuck Storm sewed it up for LaSalle when Storm scored.

LaSalle plays Temple tonight for the MAC crown and the right to play St. John's of New York in the NCAA tourney at Blacksburg, Va. next Saturday. Temple routed American University 83-61 in the other MAC game.

20 for Alcindor

Lew Alcindor, the Player of The Year, helped celebrate the naming of his coach, Johnny Wooden, as Coach of The Year by The Associated Press, with 20 points on seven field goals in 11 shots and six of nine free throws.

UCLA, which now has only two games to go for a perfect regular season mark before the NCAA tournament, led at the half 32-13 and had little trouble against Stanford's partial stall and zone defense.

University of Pacific, with a 20-3 record, won its 17th in a row by whipping San Jose State on the road 75-64 and clinched at least a tie for the WCAC crown. The Tigers can win their second straight conference title and an automatic NCAA-tournament berth by beating UCal, Santa Barbara, tonight.

West Virginia and Davidson also battle tonight for an NCAA berth in the final of the Southern Conference championship tournament at Charlotte, N.C. Davidson whipped William and Mary 78-65 and West Virginia downed Richmond 82-70 in the semifinals Friday.

Brigham Young crushed Arizona State 110-93 at Provo, Utah, behind Kari Llimo's 28 points and tied Wyoming for first place in the WAC. A playoff might be necessary if BYU beats Arizona and Wyoming defeats New Mexico tonight. New Mexico, 18-6, out of the running for the WAC title was named Friday as the 12th team for the NIT post-season tournament in New York.

Alex Howell sank four clutch free throws in overtime to give Auburn a 98-96 victory over Alabama at Montgomery, Ala. Bruce Steckel's 12-footer at the buzzer gave California a 77-75 squeaker over Southern California at Berkeley.

Rick Robertson scored nine points in an extra period to lead Cincinnati over Xavier, the Bearcats' crosstown rival, 79-69. Utah trounced Arizona 88-72 at Salt Lake City, Utah and Colorado State University edged the Air Force 62-60 at Colorado Springs.

The North Carolina A&T Aggies scored a major upset among the small colleges. They ended the 25-game winning streak of the previously unbeaten Winston-Salem State Rams CIAA tournament at Greensboro, N.C.

The earliest recorded strike in U.S. history was a strike of journeymen printers at New York City in 1776 for an increase in wages, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

J. W. Bailey Surprises Michael Team, 42-31

J. Watson Bailey School cagers, walloped early in the season by their cross-city rivals from Myron J. Michael, evened the score yesterday with a home-standing, 42-31, upset win.

The home side displayed an all-out team effort and threw up a tenacious defense against the Michael cagers. The 31 points was the low total of the season for the losers.

Bailey pulled 67 rebounds off the boards with Hal Anderson getting 20 and Gary Bellows 15.

Bailey finished with an 8-2 record, its best season ever. Michael had a 7-3 mark.

Manhattan Ace Very Hopeful In Track Championships

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Long jumper Del Benjamin appears to be Manhattan College's only hope to remain on the gold standard for the 17th straight year.

For 16 years now, Manhattan has won at least one first-place medal in the indoor IC4-A track and field championships today. Benjamin, returning to form after a month's lavoff because of a leg injury, would have to come through with an upset to make it 17.

Last week, Benjamin jumped 23-5¾ outdoors and Manhattan Coach Jim McHugh hopes another week of recuperation and the warm climate of Madison Square Garden may spur him out beyond 24 feet.

Favored to win the event is Cal Hill, Yale fullback, who has gone 24-6¾ this year, or Ed Marks of Maryland, the defending champion, who went 24-10¾ last year.

Favor Villanova

Villanova is the overwhelming favorite to win the meet and Coach Jim Elliott's complaints of late injuries to some of his charges is doing nothing to change the betting.

Dave Patrick, whose 3:59.3 is the only sub-4-minute mile of the year, is a cinch to win that event and will be back for a leg on the two-mile relay team that could also win.

Erv Hall is a prohibitive choice to win the 60-yard high hurdles, now that Dave Hemery of Boston University is out with a muscle pull.

Then there are Charley Messenger in the two-mile, Vince Bizzarro in the pole vault and Ian Hamilton in the 1,000, all of whom have the best performances of any of the entrants in their respective events.

Elliott warns that Patrick turned an ankle earlier this week and has been limping a little, but seems recovered. Hamilton was sick for three days, but appears pretty much recovered, too, says Elliott.

Also, says Elliott, Messenger's knee has been acting up and a couple of the runners on the two-mile relay team are sick. All, however, will compete.

The game also was the last of the year for Utica, which would up with a 3-16 slate.

162 Nominees for Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The boys on the backstretch got their first look today at the list of 162 nominees for the Kentucky Derby, and all predicted it will be a wide-open race.

Churchill Downs agreed with that forecast, pointing out the number of eligibles is the sixth largest in the 93-year history of the Derby.

Among the star-studded contenders for the May 6th classic are Successor, In Reality, Reflected Glory and Dr. Fager, whose credentials are supported by their bankrolls.

Five fillies also were nominated for the 1¼-mile race, which carries added money of $125,000 and a $100,000 guarantee to the winner.

Topping the list of feminine challengers is Woozen, from the stable of Louisville hotel owner J. Graham Brown. .. Calumet Farm, whose seven, Derby trophies are a record, returned to the list this year by nominating Balouf. Calumet did not have a 3-year-old among the 1966 eligibles.

Successor, the 2-year-old champion, was nominated by Wheatley Stable, which picked up $441,404 on the colt's performances last year.

In Reality, owned by the Frances A. Genter Stable, boosted his stock by winning the Hibiscus Stakes and Reflected Glory, running under the colors of Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs, captured the Everglades and Bahamas to become a dominant figure in Florida racing this winter.

Shienvold-Green Bridge Winners

Tillie Sheinvold and Sylvia Green of Kingston posted a winning game of 59 per cent to lead all players in the JCC duplicate bridge contest.

As a result of the win, they have earned the "JCC Players of the Month" award for players scoring most Master points during the month of February. They will be guests of the club during the month of March.

Following the leaders in the four-table Howell movement were: Dorothy Maroon-Rosemary Pellegrino, Kingston, 54 per cent; Rosemary Albrecht-Sheila Korol, Hurley, 53 per cent.

Because of the memorial game for I. H. (Laddie) Wheatcroft in Poughkeepsie, there will be no game this Sunday at the JCC Club. All players are urged to attend the Wheatcroft memorial.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO

Freeman Sports Editor

Spirited reaction to a recent column indicates that people are interested in the upgrading of all varsity athletic teams in Kingston High School.

The response to a suggestion that the Board of Education give serious thought to building a swimming pool for next year's KHS varsity was overwhelming. And it came from adults, not students.

We mentioned a swimming pool and the institution of schoolboy crew and soccer. Let us add another full fledged varsity status for high school boys and girls ski teams.

It was noted that without the cooperation of the YMCA and its 13-yard pool there would, in fact, be no Kingston High school swimming today.

Without the assistance of the Trail Sweepers of Kingston and other interested individuals, there would be no organized skiing at Kingston High.

But there is a difference. Even though there is no high school pool, swimming is recognized as a varsity sport. Not so the ski teams.

While such schools as Liberty, Fallsburgh, Goshen and others in Section 9 have granted varsity status to skiing, the sport is "unofficial" at Kingston High. The young students have carried on bravely with assistance from outside sources.

In the recent meet with Onteora, the Trail Sweepers assumed lift fees, helmet provision and total organization of the meet. Their cooperation has been invaluable in all previous meets hosted by Kingston.

One argument we've heard against varsity skiing is the excessive cost of accident insurance for the athletes. While considerable, it should not be a bar to granting full varsity status to the sport. If there are other overriding reasons, the public should be enlightened.

If other schools can assume these responsibilities, why not Kingston. Furthermore, it seems a bit inconsistent for Kingston High to accept the Section 9 titles and other victories by its skiers while denying them varsity status.

• The Order Changeth

Time was when football, baseball and basketball were considered the "Big Three" in high school athletics. The others were referred to as "minor sports." This yardstick is no longer valid.

In due time, the Big Three was followed by track, tennis golf, bowling, wrestling and swimming. Skiing belongs with that group and in the not too distant future soccer and schoolboy rowing, we hope.

The Board of Education's Athletic Committee and the heads of the high school's Athletic Department could have an interesting workshop session discussing some of these items.

• Old Pro Passes

A Canadian born catcher who made his professional debut with the 1903 Kingston team in the Hudson River League died recently at the age of 87 in London, Ontario.

George Gibson was the only Canadian ever to serve as a major league manager. He was an ironman catcher in his time and in 1958 was named to Canada's Sports Hall of Fame.

A sandlot star in the Ontario provinces before joining Kingston, Gibson played with Buffalo and Montreal in the Eastern league for two years before being acquired by the Pittsburgh Pirates of the National League.

In 1909, when the Pirates won the pennant Gibson had one of his greatest seasons. He not only batted .265 but set a national League record for highest fielding average by a catcher in 150 or more games, .983. He caught all seven games without an error in the Pirates' World Series victory over the Tigers and hit .240.

Honus Wagner pinned the nickname of "Hack" on Gibson after George Hackenschmidt, the famous wrestler. Gibson was just as durable as the mat champ. He caught 133 consecutive games, then a record, in 1909 and appeared behind the bat in 100 or more games in six different seasons, then also a major league mark.

• Picking A Winner

Evidence of the balance of power which existed in the National League in 1966 is found in a comparison of the gaps which separated the last-place clubs from the pennant winners in 1965 and 1966. In 1965, the Mets finished 47 games behind the champion Dodgers. In 1966, the Cubs trailed the Dodgers by 36 games.

When you get right down to it, it is doubtful if any league ever enjoyed the presence of so many powerful teams in its makeup as the NL will carry into the 1967 season.

The "experts" doubless will face the most difficult task in history in predicting a pennant winner in the senior circuit.

Seven clubs could be conceded a chance to win—the Dodgers, Giants, Pirates, Phillies, Braves, Cardinals and Reds, not necessarily in that order. That simply has to be an unprecedented number.

Maroon Girls Win, Boys Lose In Ski Meet With Onteora

Kingston High school girls ski team defeated Onteora Central High but the Maroon boys lost as both teams closed out the 1967 season in dual meets on the Simpson Ski Slope at Phoenicia.

Based on the lowest combined times, the Maroon girls swept the slalom, downhill and combined, despite two individual firsts by Vickie Bellows of Onteora.

Sally Goffredi of Kingston captured the slalom in 38.8, two tenths of a second faster than Bellows who took the downhill in 27.5 seconds and led the combined in 66.5.

Glenn Lund was a double winner for Onteora in the slalom (68.2 for two runs) and combined (94.7). The downhill went to Roger Vogt of Kingston in 26 seconds flat.

Defend Title Today

The Kingston boys team was scheduled to defend its Section 9 championship today at Highmount Ski Center. The girls defend their title on March 11.

Onteora coach Richard Wahl was the course setter, while Richard D. Schaefer, KHS coach, served as starter. Assisting were Mrs. George D. Rifenbary, Mrs. C. J. Goffredi, Diane Smith and Judy Wood.

The summaries:

KHS Girls Slalom—Sally Goffredi 38.8, Terry Goffredi 40.5, Barbara Dutto 41.1, Nancy Lupton 45.2, 49.0-214.6. Individuals-S. Goffredi, Vicki Bellows 39.0, Terry Goffredi.

Siegfried Has 29 As Celtics Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

K. C. Jones has grown so accustomed to playing with a winner that he will do anything to keep the habit — even sit on the bench.

That's where he spent much of Friday night while his replacement Larry Siegfried scored 29 points and paced the Boston Celtics to a 111-104 victory over Cincinnati in the second game of a National Basketball Association doubleheader in Boston.

Hal Greer and Wilt Chamberlain led Philadelphia past Detroit 129-103 in the first game. The Lakers beat New York 138-132 at Los Angeles in the only other game.

It was the aging Jones who suggested to Celtic Coach Bill Russell eight games ago that Siegfried replace Jones in the line-up. With Siegfried providing more scoring punch as a starter and Jones sparking the club off the bench, the Celtics have not lost since.

The substitute role also gives Jones, who is retiring after this season to coach at Brandeis, a chance to rest for the playoffs and a try at playing on his 11th straight championship team, including two NCAA titlests at San Francisco in college and eight NBA champions with the Celtics.

Jones scored 10 points while Siegfried, who has hit 82 in the last three games, was playing the major scoring role. Siegfried broke a 100-100 tie and Don Nelson and Tom Sanders added four more points as the Celtics pulled away to their eighth straight triumph over the Royals.

Robinson's Knee Passes First Test

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The right knee of Frank Robinson — operated on during the off season — was tested Friday when he twisted it while ducking away from a high inside fastball as the world champion Baltimore Orioles took batting practice.

The Baltimore outfielder, winner of the American League's Most Valuable Player Award last season, hit the dirt and got up rubbing the knee.

He rubbed it again when he got to the outfield but finished the day's workout before leaving an hour later.

Cartilege was removed from Robinson's knee during the banquet circuit. The knee was the lone question mark on a $100,000 contract signed by Robinson earlier this year.

Manager Hank Bauer didn't even mention the incident in a conversation with a newsman after the practice, and Oriole management apparently considered it a part of the healing process.

Army Launches Spring Football At Point April 1

WEST POINT — Spring football for the 1967 Army team will start Saturday, April 1, and conclude four weeks later with the annual spring game at Michie Stadium. Kickoff time for the April 29 intrasquad contest will be 7:30 p. m.

For the first time in several years Army will be stronger on offense than defense based upon the returning lettermen. Coach Thomas B. Cahill, who was named Coach-of-the- Year in his first season as head football coach at the U.S. Military Academy, will have 20 lettermen returning from a team which posted an 8-2 record. Ten of them are on the offensive platoon, eight on defense and two are kicking specialists.

The quarterback duo of Steve Lindell and Jim O'Toole move into their second year of varsity play. Both were starters during the 1966 season although Lindell became the leader after the third game. He gained ECAC sophomore-of-the-year honors for 1966.

The other eight players were all offensive starters, pointing up the fact that Coach Cahill needs to find replacements only at a tackle and a guard spot. They lined up like this: Ends—Terry Young and Gary Steele, Tackle—Keith Harrelson, Guard—John Nerdahl, Center — Don Roberts, Halfbacks — John Peduto and Carl Woessner, and Fullback—Charley Jarvis.

To compound the defensive problem, new Coaches have been hired to replace the entire defensive side of the staff. Dick Lyon of Ithaca is the new defensive leader. Bill Parcells from Wichita and Jack Hecker from Miami of Ohio are the other newcomers.

Captain Bud Neswiacheny returns at defensive end; Bob Gora, Elwood Cobey and Steve Yarnell at tackle; and Pete Mente at middle guard. Another flanker is needed to complete the front five. Linebackers Jim Bevans and Ken Johnson and deep back Hank Toczlowski fill three of the six spots in the secondary. Missing are a rover and two deep backs. That's where the major problem is right now.

Cortl'nd Swimmer Holds Spotlight In Upstate Meet

OLEAN, N.Y. (AP)—Cortland State's Bob McMurray held the spotlight as the Upstate New York College Swimming Championships moved into its final day of competition at the St. Bonaventure University pool.

McMurray, a senior, successfully defended his titles in the 220-yard individual medley and 500-yard freestyle events in Friday night's opening round, posting a record time of 5:10.50 for the latter event in the process.

Sandy Carpenter of the University of Rochester bettered another meet mark when he completed the 100-yard breaststroke in 1:02.42.

Competitors from Colgate grabbed three victories in the 10 events Friday night, taking first places in the 100-yard butterfly, 800-yard freestyle relay and three-meter diving. There is no team title, however.

More than 300 swimmers from 17 colleges and universities are competing in the 13th annual tourney, which is sponsored by the Upper New York State Swimming Association.

Fourteen events will be decided tonight.

The summaries:

100 backstroke — 1. Rich La Rose, Brockport. 2. Dave Mc Clave, St. Bonaventure. 3. Bill Siener, Rochester. :57.38.

100 breaststroke — 1, Sandy Carpenter, Rochester. 2. Charles Dean, Brockport. 3. Mike Macys, St. Bonaventure. 1:02.42 (New record; old record 1:04 set in 1966 by Bradburn, RPI).

500 freestyle—1, Bob McMurray, Cortland State; 2, Ed Crossmore, Rochester. 3, Pete Schacht, Syracuse. 5:10.50 (new record; old record 5:18.70 set in 1964 by Martin, Colgate).

Benvenuti Wins, Doesn't Impress

ROME, Italy (AP) — Nino Benvenuti's last fight before the European middleweight champion meets Emile Griffith for the world title turned out to be less than a complete triumph.

Benvenuti, the 28-year-old Italian who meets Griffith in New York April 17, won a decision over Milo Calhoun of Jamaica, but was unimpressive to the point of being booed by 12,000 Rome fight fans.

The crowd repeatedly jeered as the fighters continually went into clinches and generally failed to do much hitting. Benvenuti, who weighed 161¾, took a lot of punches from Calhoun, 163¾, but none of them were hard enough to do damage.

Arraign Soviet Skipper

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — The master of a Soviet fishing vessel seized by the Coast Guard in the United States waters is scheduled to be arraigned in Kodiak, Alaska, Sunday on charges of violating U.S. territorial fishing rights.

U.S. Atty. Richard McVeigh of Anchorage said the unidentified Soviet skipper would be flown to Kodiak from San Point, where his ship was taken Friday under Coast Guard escort. At least four Soviet crewmen are expected to appear with him at the arraignment.

The Coast Guard cutter Storis seized the Soviet vessel Thursday while making a routine fisheries patrol in U.S. waters 40 miles southeast of Chignik on the south side of the Alaska Peninsula. Don Phillips, skipper of a Kodiak-based fishing boat, said he passed through a Soviet fleet in the area Monday night and that an estimated 22 vessels were "well inside the three-mile limit."

Blancas, Aaron Share Doral Lead

By BEN FUNK

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The galleries were waiting for the giants to challenge today as the $100,000 Doral Open golf tournament moved into the third round with young Homero Blancas and Tommy Aaron still in charge.

Blancas, a 28-year-old Latin with a record of dramatic ups and downs and a fun-loving approach to the game, had to shoot only a par 71 Friday, and Aaron needed only a 70 to keep them out in front of the pack with 136s, six under par.

And their biggest threat of the second round came not from the big guys like Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, but from Joel Goldstrand, an obscure former teammate of Blancas at the University of Houston.

Playing with the last threesome of the day, and with just two holes ahead of him in the gathering dusk, the 27-year-old Goldstrand needed only two pars to snatch the lead on the road to the $20,000 first prize.

But the pressure was too much. Goldstrand hooked into a trap at the 17th, blasted out to a bad lie, chipped up and two-putted for a double bogey.

After that, Blancas and Aaron breathed more easily, but they moved into the third round with seven others only a stroke behind them.

Ralston Bows

NEW ORK (AP) — Earl Buchholz ruined Dennis Ralston's debut in the United States as a professional Friday, beating Ralston 11-9, 7-5 in the first round of the international pro invitation tennis tournament.

Rod Laver of Australia pulled the same trick on Fred Stolle, ousting his countryman 6-3, 8-6.

JACK NICKLAUS, only winner of the Masters Golf Tournament in consecutive years (1965-66) and winner of 17 official PGA tournaments in five years, has been named 1967 National Easter Seal Campaign sports chairman by the National Society for Crippled Children and adults. The annual Easter Seal appeal began Feb. 20 and ends March 26.

Boamon Sets Long Jump Mark In California Track Meet

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Bob Beamon still has trouble believing he owns the American indoor long jump record and came within just one-half inch of returning the world record from Russia.

"I've fouled a lot and I was afraid I had fouled this time," the lanky Texas Western freshman from New York said of his 26-foot 11½-inch leap at Friday night's opening session of the Amateur Athletic Union's national championships, which conclude tonight.

"When I heard them announce that distance, I couldn't believe it. I haven't been working much on the long jump lately, more on the triple jump. Hereafter I'll work more on the long jump," the 20-year-old declared.

Ralph Boston, the veteran Olympian and outdoor champion, held the American indoor mark at 26-6¼ since 1961 and made a valiant effort to regain it with a leap of 26-7½ but took only second place.

Defending champion Norm Tate finished tenth. In both the 60-yard dash for men and the same race for women, the defending champions proved victorious wearing the same shoes.

Wyomia Tyus of Tennessee State won the women's race in 6.7 seconds, two-tenths off her world indoor record and Billy Gaines, the high school star from Mullica Hill, N.J., beat the other men in 6.0 seconds a l th ough h second place Jim Hines and the next two finishers also were given that same clocking.

Uses Borrowed Shoes

Gaines borrowed Wyomia's shoes, size 7½, because he didn't feel he got proper traction with his short spikes and wanted longer ones. From third in the semifinals, he went on to win after changing footwear.

Seattle's Doris Brown won the mile handily in 4:43.3 despite being hit by photographers eager to get her picture in action. She had aimed at lowering her world record of 4:40.4.

"I was hit three times by photographers but it r e a l l y didn't make any difference," said the gal who set her own pace all the way before the disappointing crowd of 5,624 in Oakland's sparkling new Coliseum Arena.

Bob Seagren of Southern California established a meet record of 17-0¾ in the pole vault and then raised the bar to 17-7, the highest he's ever tried indoors. He missed on three tries.

John Rambo of Long Beach won the high jump by clearing 7-1 while defending champion John Thomas of Boston could claim only fourth on a 7-0 effort.

Progress Is Noted For Lions Show, Markes Is Speaker

Continued progress reports on plans for the annual Home Show in April were given to members of Kingston Lions Club this week. The show is scheduled for April 4 to April 8 at the New York State Armory, Manor Avenue.

Robert Markes, assistant superintendent of Kingston Schools Consolidated, spoke on teacher recruitment for the school system.

His talk covered the reasons for the recruitment drive, how needs are determined, competition from other schools and big industry and the manner in which recruitment procedures are followed.

He said the public could help in this drive for new teachers by being aware of the need, being positive of the school district as well as being negative, appraise the community and evaluate what it has to offer potential teachers.

Markes viewed the future with a continued shortage of teachers, better salaries and working conditions and the need for improving and refining recruiting techniques.

Announcement was made that the mid-winter conference for District 20 will be held March 17-19 at the Pines in Fallsburg.

In Panel Discussion

Loss of Independence Cited As Juvenile Diabetic Worry

"Every organic disease has a certain amount of psychological problems. Chronic diseases have even more," said Dr. Norman N. Burg, Woodstock, in opening a panel discussion on emotional problems of the juvenile diabetic.

How these problems differ from those of other adolescents was the subject as Dr. Burg, Dr. William E. Askue, a pediatrician, and Dr. Mark A. Vandenburgh, a psychiatrist, each spoke before a meeting of the Ulster Chapter, New York Diabetes Association, held recently in the Benedictine School of Nursing auditorium.

Dr. Burg, the chapter's physician-advisor, said such problems occur most often when parents do not adjust to diagnosis, or through poor prognosis, fear of complications, occupational problems, marriage, or difficulty in accepting a monotonous routine of medication and diet.

"Independence is the desire of most children," Dr. Burg said, "and diabetes often interferes to the extent of causing hostility and inferiority traits."

Dr. Askue related three different cases of adolescents who fall ill—one from a skiing accident; one from meningitis; and another from a "middle ear infection." He pointed out that each of these, no matter what the degree of severity, still differ from the diabetic youngster because they can look forward to recovery.

The third panel member, Dr. Vandenburgh, added that one of the major problems for a juvenile diabetic lies in trying to be systematic . . . in trying to adjust one's behavior to a day-to-day schedule.

On Thursday at 7:45 p. m., the chapter has scheduled a general meeting in the Benedictine auditorium with Dr. Sheldon J. Bleicher scheduled to speak on "Frontiers of Investigation for the Diabetic."

The doctor is physician-in-charge of the Metabolic Research Unit at the Jewish Hospital of Brooklyn. He is also attending physician at the Kings County Hospital and Assistant Profesor of Medicine at Downstate Medical Center, State University of New York.

Upstate Marine Dies In Vietnam Fighting

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP)—A 19-year-old Marine corporal, whose regiment has been engaged in continuous, heavy fighting, has died of fragmentation wounds suffered in combat in Vietnam.

He was Earl L. Crissell Jr., a machinegunner with the 4th Marines, who died Wednesday. Crissell's death was reported Friday by the Defense Department in Washington.

Crissell's father said at the family home here that his son had been in the Southeast Asian nation nearly 13 months. He said Crissell had suffered head wounds from mortar shelling about a year ago and had spent two months in an Okinawa hospital before returning to duty.

Crissell attended Montrose High School in nearby Montrose, Pa., and had worked as a farm worker before moving to Binghamton.

Units of the 4th Marines were the targets of heavy mortar barrages Wednesday, and one company was attacked by two battalions of North Vietnamese regulars near the Demilitarized Zone.

Crissell's father said the Marine would be buried in Halstead, Pa., near Montrose. Survivors include a brother, now serving as a Marine private first class at Camp Pendleton.

Pay for Electricians

MAYFIELD, Ky. (AP) — "We're electrical inspectors."

That introduction Friday led to the end of the life savings of Sig Johnson and his sister, Effie, who live a mile west of Wingo, Ky.

Two men gained entrance to the home on the pretext of making an "electrical inspection," Johnson said. One man engaged the Johnsons in conversation while his partner roamed through the house.

After the two left, the Johnson's told police $5,100 was missing.

See Big Increase In Population of Area in 35 Years

Benjamin L. Webster, chairman of the Ulster County Planning Board, announced the publication of an interim Population report designed to answer some of the many requests received lately at the planning board for county population projections.

The interim report envisions that Ulster County will add as many people to its total population in the next 35 years as it had residing in the county in 1950. This is an equivalent of adding three cities the same population size as the city of Kingston.

The population is expected to grow younger in the next 35 years since the school-going, and the working and home-buying age groups are expected to increase faster than any other segment of the county population.

More Persons Over 80

This is not to say that the problems of certain age groups such as the elderly will decline, for a more detailed look at the population composition of the elderly indicate a very high increase expected in persons over 80 years of age, due to general trends in longevity.

School enrollments are expected to rise in the next 35 years to a level 60 per cent higher than that of 1965. Using an average classroom occupancy of 30 pupils per room, this would mean that about 640 more classrooms would need to be constructed in the next 35 years in Ulster.

Healthy Trend

It is a healthy sign that the working age group segment of the population is expected to grow faster than the non-working age groups, for this reflects an increasing financial stability and ability to provide necessary improvements in the future. A reverse trend would place more demands upon less people.

The county and local planning boards, and officials and residents of the county will have their hands full in providing the necessary services, facilities and utilities to accompany growth of this magnitude.

Area Dentists to Finish With Study, Lectures

Dentists of the Third and Fourth District Dental Societies, including most of eastern New York, will end a seasonal course in "continuing education" during a two-day series of study and lectures at Holiday Inn, Colonie, on March 15-16.

Dental practice changes from year to year, according to Post-Graduate Course Chairman Dr. Robert C. King, Delmar. He said because of this the final sessions of the series will concern "Dental Practice, 1967." Clinician will be Dr. John A. Anderson, Chiago, recognized by dentists nationwide as an authority on denistry.

Also during March, Dr. Bernard Rosenn, Albany, president of the Third District, will direct the monthly oral health project—this month listed as "Preventive Periodontics." These diseases effect the gums and other tooth-supporting mouth tissue and cause up to 80 per cent of all tooth loss among adults, according to dental authorities.

Most common cause is formation of tartar on the necks and roots of teeth, which can be prevented by proper brushing which includes the gums. This helps prevent tartar from forming. Other causes, according to the dentists, can be halted only through regular care and attention.

No Nixon in Poland

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who departs Sunday on a three-week fact-finding visit to seven European capitals, says he has been denied a visa by the Polish government to visit Warsaw.

Nixon announced Friday that the visa denial was "uncalled for."

"I regret the precipitate . . . action of the Polish government in denying me a visa," he said in a statement.

"When I visited Warsaw in 1959 in my capacity as vice president, the reception of the Polish people was spontaneous, overwhelmingly enthusiastic and truly heart-warming."

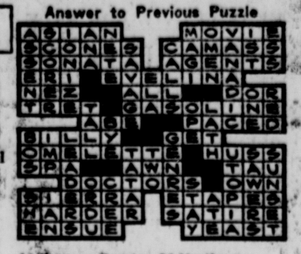

The Polish Embassy in Washington declined comment.

Shelling Errors Cost More Lives In Vietnam War

By JOHN T. WHEELER

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command disclosed today that six Vietnamese civilians were killed and 26 wounded in accidental shellings by American artillery of a village and a group of river sampans.

Announcement of the two incidents came as U.S. authorities clamped tight secrecy over the bombing by "unidentified aircraft" of Lang Vei village near the Laotian border Thursday. South Vietnamese authorities said 95 civilians were killed and about 200 wounded in that bombing. The U.S. command listed 83 killed.

All three incidents are being investigated.

Both of the latest reported incidents took place in the thickly populated Mekong Delta region south of Saigon.

The first occurred Wednesday in Dinh Tuong Province when a U.S. artillery unit accidentally sent 11 howitzer shells into Trung Luong village 30 miles southwest of Saigon, killing five civilians, wounding 24 and destroying 24 hourses, the announcement said. No explanation was given for the delay in the report.

The second took place Friday about 75 miles northeast of Saigon when an air observer requested and received clearance by the South Vietnamese army to call in artillry fire on a group of five sampans. One person was killed, two wounded and one sampan destroyed, the announcement said. The persons later were determined to be "friendly."

The U.S. Command is still investigating the bombing of Lang Vei village. Military spokesmen said they were unable to comment on why it was taking so long to determine whether American aircraft were to blame.

About 150 of the more seriously injured villagers were hospitalized and Americans flew in blankets, food and clothing to survivors.

If the attack was an error by American pilots, it was the worst such mistake of the war. If it was made by Communist planes, it would mark their first such strike into South Vietnam.

The previous high toll in an accidental bombing was in August 1966 when U.S. planes killed 63 civilians and wounded 83 during an attack in the Mekong Delta.

Lang Vei is a village of about 2,000 population a mile from the border of Laos, an area controlled by Communists, and 15 miles below the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam.

Photographs made at Lang Vei following the attack showed few large bomb craters. But massive devastation of shacks, trees and underbrush indicates that antipersonnel weapons of the type used by the United States in North and South Vietnam and Laos were involved. The U.S. weapons leave almost total devastation over an area the size of three football fields for each cluster used.

Under stringent orders laid down by the U.S. Command in the past, air strikes are supposed to be carefully monitored, as are the targets of each plane.

Firemen Battle 2nd Incendiary Blaze This Week

A second reported incendiary fire in less than one week sent firemen to the former Eaton Junkyard at 58 Hasbrouck Avenue early today. The site is now owned by the Urban Renewal Agency.

The first fire, Tuesday shortly before midnight, involved 20 junked cars and was also termed the work of arsonists.

Today's blaze, reported at 2:59 a. m., involved an unknown number of cars and was quelled by Engine 1 and Truck 1 from Central Station and Engine 3 from Cornell Station, under the direction of Deputy Chief Glyn Southard.

Broadway Car Fire

Another car fire—this one involving a single auto — was quelled by firemen at the rear of Goldfarb's Service Station, 575 Broadway, at 4:35 p. m., Friday. A spokesman for the fire department said the auto is owned by Arecelio Torres, of 60 Cedar Street.

The blaze started on the front seat of the vehicle and damaged the seat and dashboard. Engine 1 from Central Station, directed by Captain Robert Hardwick, responded.

Church Building Damaged

One other fire described briefly in yesterday's Freeman, caused some smoke damage and apparently burned one attic timber in the Sunday School building owned by the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer at 28 Roger Street.

Firemen said the blaze apparently was caused by a plumber working on an oil burner in the building. The burner became overcharged with oil which somehow ignited causing the chimney fire.

Smoke reportedly leaked from the chimney into the attic area of the building before firemen applied carbon dioxide.

Responding to the fire, reported at 12:16 p. m., were Engine 1 and Truck 1 from Central Station and Engine 3 from Cornell Station. Firemen were under the direction of Captain Hardwick. Engine 4, from the A. H. Wicks Engine and Truck Company.

A Time to Show Thanks

American Red Cross, Ready To Help—and No Dollar Sign

Last Year's major moves toward heightened American Red Cross disaster preparedness proved their high value quickly, it was pointed out this week by William Schiff, disaster chairman of the Ulster County Chapter, American Red Cross. He made the comment in reminding residents that March has been designated as National Red Cross Month.

Schiff noted that one goal— to increase speed of ARC chapters responding to local disasters with immediate action—was met with placement of radio-equipped mobile units in 60 key chapters.

Some of these units received their first usage in Hurricane Betsy during the fall of 1965; or in the northeast power blackout two months later; or in the tornadoes in Florida, Mississippi and Kansas; or during Hurricane Alma in 1966.

Plan To Allocate More

Additional disaster equipment will be allocated to other key chapters during the current year, he added.

"Broadened use of volunteers; updating the Hurricane Watch plan; and development of a similar Flood Watch plan are other preparedness goals.

"These plans are going forward at a time when Red Cross gives service during some 14,000 emergency situations a year," according to Schiff. The Red Cross in Ulster County is now holding its annual fund campaign in the area of the county not in the Community Chest.

"Besides hurricanes, tornadoes, and floods, they have included fires, transportation accidents, the collapse of buildings, and such unusual events as ship sinkings, the New York City transit strike in early 1966, and the northeastern power failure in November 1965.

"The 1960's have been a period of numerous major disasters. From July 1, 1959, to June 30, 1966, the American Red Cross spent $88,144,900 in assisting victims of domestic and international calamities.

Peaked in 1965

"These relief activities reached a peak for the decade in the fall of 1965 in the operations by thousands of volunteer and staff workers in the four-state area ravaged by Hurricane Betsy.

"To give mass care to 296,000 disaster victims and relief workers and bring long-term recovery assistance to 34,600 families in Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, and Florida, the Red Cross spent almost $17,500,000.

Schiff defined mass care as feeding, shelter, clothing, medical and nursing care for disaster victims during emergency created by disaster. Recovery assistance financial help in rebuilding and repair of homes, replacement of essential household furnishings and occupational tools, medical and nursing care and other necessary assistance.

He listed the other major disaster relief operations in which the Red Cross participated in the 1960's as:

Donna Came First

September 1960 — Hurricane Donna, after wrecking havoc in Puerto Rico, zig-zagged up the Atlantic coast from Florida to Massachusetts, touching down on every Eastern Seaboard state in between except Delaware and Connecticut. Emergency mass care was given to 174,415 persons and 13,375 families were aided in recovery. Arc expenditures—$2,197,500.

February-March 1961—Floods and tornadoes struck in Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana. Mass care was given to 21,653 persons; 6,120 families aided in recovery. ARC expenditures—$982,500.

September 1961 — Hurricane Carla smashed into the Texas-Louisiana Gulf Coasts, setting off what was termed one of the biggest peacetime evacuations in modern history. Some 500,000 persons fled the coastal regions for the interior. The Red Cross fed and sheltered 420,739 refugees and relief workers and helped 17,560 families back to normal living. It spent $5,303,400—its second largest expenditure of the '60's t. date.

Violent Storm

March 1962—The Mid-Atlantic Coastal Storm lashed a five-state area—Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey, and New York — leveling homes, destroying boats, piling sand high on highways and city streets. Emergency care was given 25,782 persons; long-term aid to 3,279 families. ARC expenditure: $980,300.

March 1963 — With the Kentucky-Virginia-West Virginia Floods, lightning struck twice; hit the same area afflicted by floods in January 1957. Persons given mass care, 13,785; families assisted in recovery, 8,623; Red Cross expenditure, $2,704,800.

March 1964 — Ohio Valley Floods affected communities in West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, and Kentucky. Persons given mass care, 25,289; families assisted in recovery, 8,210; ARC expenditure, $2,143,300.

Alaska Earthquake

March 1964—Earthquake created havoc in Alaska. Persons given mass care totaled 11,000; 930 families were assisted to recover; approximate expenditure by the Red Cross was $1,309,200.

June 1964—8,910 persons given mass care and 1,310 families helped back to recovery in the Montana-Idaho floods at an expenditure of about $978,100.

September 1964 — Hurricane Hilda swept the Gulf Coast from Alabama to Texas. Red Cross gave mass care to 211,675 persons and recovery assistance to 6,967 families with an expenditure of about $1,541,400.

December 1964 — History repeated itself again when some of the West Coast area stricken by the floods at Christmas time in 1955 was hit again just nine years later. In the California-Idaho-Oregon-Washington floods, 49,152 persons received mass care and 5,632 families got help in recovery. Red Cross expenditures totaled about $4,000,000.

Mid-West Flooded

April 1965 — Floods affected five Mid-Western states—Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Wisconsin, and North Dakota — and a tornado hit Minnesota. Persons given mass care totaled 152,318, and 3,650 families were helped to recovery. The Red Cross spent about $1,777,000.

April 1965—The Palm Sunday tornadoes in a single day ravaged communities in 68 Red Cross chapter jurisdictions in Arkansas, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, and Wisconsin. Total Red Cross expenditures were $910,000. This high expenditure was partially caused by the need to defray hospital, medical and nursing expenses for many of the injured. ARC gave mass care to 78,015 persons and recovery aid to 1,081.

June 1965—Major flooding in Colorado and New Mexico resulted in Colorado and New Mexico resulted in the Red Cross spending about $1,666,000 to give mass care to 15,990 persons and recovery assistance to 2,486 families.

"All Red Cross assistance whether in the emergency period of a disaster, or in the longer pull while families are being helped back to normal living, is absolutely free," Schiff said. Without the voluntary contributions of the American People through the community chest and Red Cross fund drives this service could not continue.

Play Guards Against Trumps

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

We finish our discussion of plays against ten spots with a standard safety play which has appeared in many bridge books and in every bridge column, including this one.

It will be well-known to many readers but we feel that there are enough people who don't know this play to justify repetition.

South is able to account for all the aces and kings by his use of Blackwood but settles for six in view of the possibility that his partner won't hold both the king and queen of spades. North is tempted to bid seven anyway because he has solid diamonds but North recalls that he has opened the bidding and given a jump raise, so North also settles for the small slam.

If South is alert, he makes the slam by the simple expedient of playing his ace of trumps at trick two. East shows out but this doesn't worry South in the slightest. He leads a second trump through West and holds West to one trick.

If South is a careless player, he leads a trump to dummy's king. Later South complains about bad luck because he isn't going to make his slam.

Playing at six, the king of spades is totally incorrect. The ace play insures the contract. The king play costs it any time West holds all the trumps.

FULL WEEK'S TV LISTINGS FOR WEEK OF MARCH 5th THRU MARCH 11th

Mark Twain (Samuel Clemens) comes to vivid life in the characterization of the American humorist by Hal Holbrook, in a special Monday, March 6, CBS. Holbrook is famous for his stage and lecture platform treatment of Twain's works.

It's 'Mark Twain Tonight' - - - Rare Viewing Treat Monday Evening

By DON ROYAL

NEW YORK

One-man shows are not uncommon in the theater, but CBS-TV seems to have had a near-monopoly on them on the air. Upcoming is the solo appearance of Hal Holbrook in "Mark Twain Tonight!" which will be broadcast as a 90-minute special in color this Monday, March 6, 9:30-11 p. m. Eastern time.

Last season the network presented Sir John Gielgud in his Shakespearean "Ages of Man" one-man performance, this year it has brought Emlyn Williams and his readings from the works of Charles Dickens, and next season CBS will be offering Irish actor-playwright Michael MacLiammoir in his solo presentation based on the life and works of Oscar Wilde. (This one will be a two-parter.)

The Mark Twain special is a Xerox-sponsored prestige production. It brings to home audiences the tour de force that earned recognition and fame for Hal Holbrook almost eight years ago when he slipped into an off-Broadway theater as the great American humorist at the age of 70, complete to flowing white hair, bristling mustache, ice-cream suit and elongated stogie.

When Holbrook first appeared on a New York stage as Twain in April 1959, the critics unanimously reported that a new smash hit had arrived in town. The one-man show found itself the recipient of the most glowing set of reviews since "My Fair Lady."

Since then the 39-year-old actor from Cleveland has stepped out on stages around the globe an estimated 2,100 times with this brilliantly edited and delivered monologue.

His most recent engagement in New York prompted one reviewer to say that "if Mark Twain had never existed, it would have been necessary for Hal Holbrook to invent him." Another critic called the uncanny Twain characterization "living art in progress" and "one of the treasures of the American theater."

It wasn't always thus. Hal Holbrook had been preparing "Mark Twain Tonight!" for seven years before he unveiled it. His re-creation of Twain originally took the form of a night club act of far shorter length than the six hours of material he can now call upon for his stage appearances.

Holbrook did a half-hour program of his Twain "act" at the Lambs Club in New York shortly after he launched it. There he was spotted by Broadway producer John Lotas, who immediately determined to mount the production for the theatre-going public. But sometimes there is a long road to travel and fulfillment.

Show-business pundits told Holbrook and Lotas that they were wasting their time: "An unknown actor, alone on stage, for two hours?"

But actor and producer took heart from the words of Mark Twain: "Whenever you find yourself on the side of the majority, it is time to pause and reflect." And so the efforts continued. An office was rented, a partnership formed, and prospective investors were searched out.

It was finally in February of 1959 that, as Holbrook did his umpteenth audition, one man watched 40 minutes of it, then asked for a pen and wrote out a check that provided half the cost of production. Soon thereafter the show was fully capitalized, and Holbrook's remarkable acting performances based on rich literarary material became one of the most stunning successes in modern theater history.

Doing Twain is even more arduous for Holbrook off-stage than on. It takes some three and a half hours to apply the make-up that ages him 30 years. It's a long and tedious process before every performance.

Why does he do it?

"The whole point of the show is to create the illusion that Mark Twain is really there, that the people are seeing Mark Twain," Holbrook says. "The only way to do that is to be as authentic as possible in all directions, including his books.

"I've devised a make-up that works for people five feet away or 40 feet away. I can try to make up faster, because it's a discouraging chore, but it always takes more than three hours."

The chore was even tougher for his television appearance. Normally, on stage, he creates the Twain lines and wrinkles with make-up pencil, but that is not enough for the relentlessly realistic television camera lenses. For the broadcast, Holbrook will have on a facial mold made of nylon and Dacron to which make-up is applied differently and painstakingly. To become Twain for the television audience required some four and three-quarters hours.

A large part of Holbrook's years of preparation for his one-man performance went into research. He talked to people who knew Twain, who had heard him on the lecture platforms of America. He met Twain's daughter Clara, who died a couple of years ago, and he talked to the author's granddaughter Nina. He acquired a copy of a rare Edison film of Twain and a recording of his voice, studied reviews of his lectures, and endlessly read everything ever written by and about the saltiest of American writers and individualists.

"I guess the person who gave me the best insight into Twain was an old concert manager, James B. (Ben) Pond," says Holbrook. "His father was Twain's lecture manager, and as a boy Ben knew Twain. He would say something, with anger lying under the humor, and I felt I new how Twain talked.

"It's amazing how contemporary Mark Twain is," Holbrook goes on. "You expect him to mention LBJ or Vietnam any moment. Twain more often than not seems to have been writing topical satire for our own times. I like the man's thinking. He is an American-type thinker. His great common sense and his ability to express it through humor or satire make him so very human."

Holbrook says that about 95 per cent of the material he uses from Twain is not familiar to people. "They think they know him, but they don't," he adds.

Holbrook keeps changing the material not only from year to year, but from performance to performance. A note in his program states, with more than a touch of Twainian tongue-in-cheek: "While Mr. Twain's selections will come from the complete list below, we have been unable to pin him down as to which of them he will do at this performance. He claims it would cripple his inspiration. However, he has generously conceded to a printed program for the benefit of those who are in distress and wish to fan themselves."

Holbrook could play Mark Twain for the rest of his life, but he doesn't want to do that. Following the long off-Broadway run seven years ago, Hal deliberately put Twain aside.

"I felt I was caught," he says, "and people were beginning to think I couldn't do anything else."

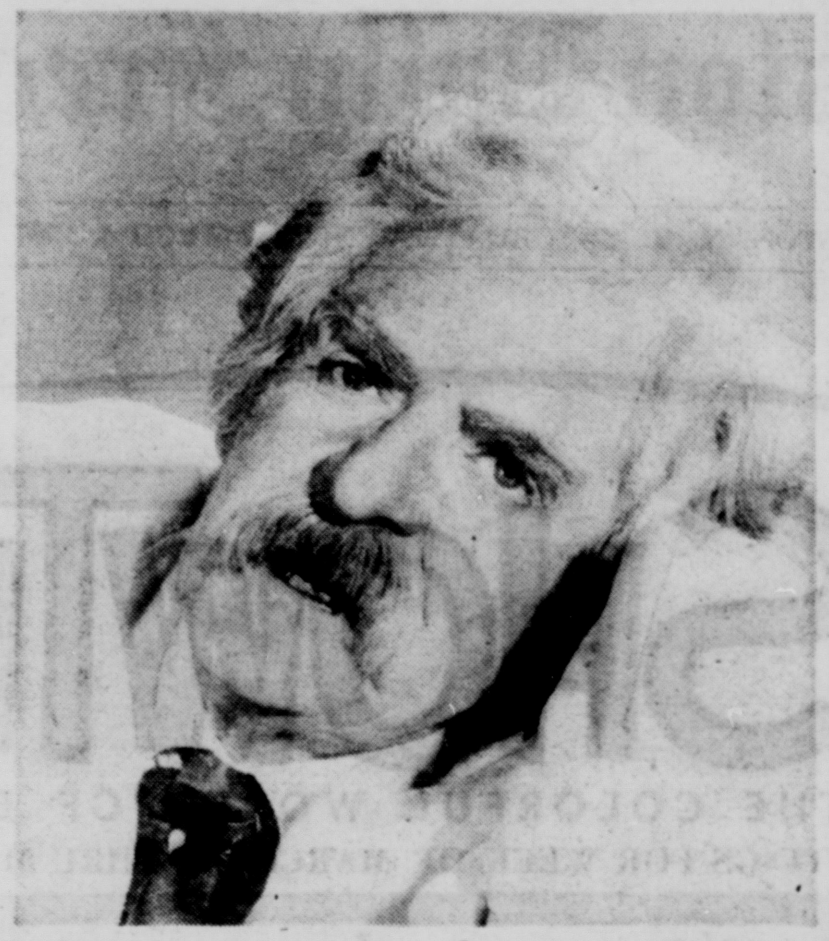

He needn't have worried. Since his first engagement as Twain, Holbrook has acted in 10 plays—from Shakespeare to O'Neil to Arthur Miller — and played a featured role in the film "The Group."

Television viewers had a chance to see the quality of Holbrook's acting outside the role of Twain when he played the part of the son, Tom, in CBS special "The Glass Menagerie" last December.

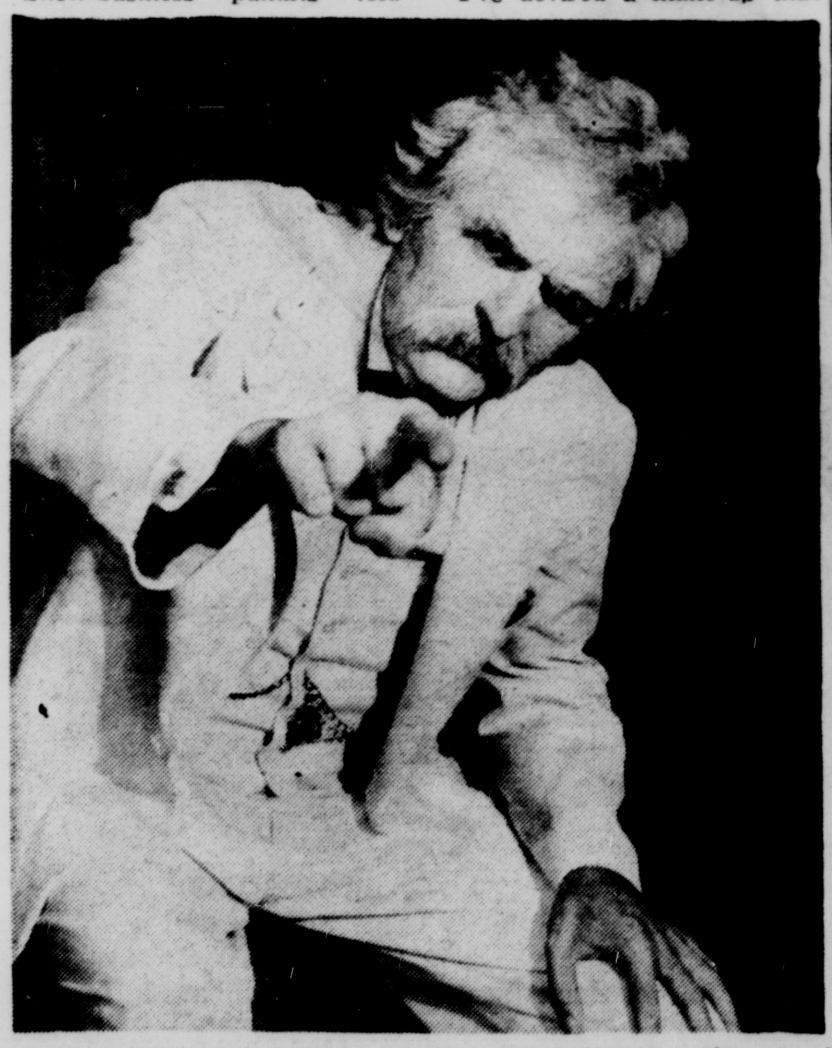

In 1960 Holbrook was chosen by the State Department as the first non-musical theater attraction to be sent to Europe under the auspices of the cultural exchange. He played a dozen countries to much acclaim. He has also done Twain for three Presidents—Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson.

Holbrook was born in Cleveland, is the son of a chorus girl, was educated at Culver Military Academy in Indiana and Denison University in Ohio, spent three years in service during World War II, made his professional debut in the theater as the son in "The Man Who Came to Dinner" in 1942, and is likely really to turn into Mark Twain if he doesn't watch out.

The history books state that Mark Twain, born Samuel Langhorne Clemens, departed this life with Halley's comet on April 21, 1910. But those who have seen "Mark Twain Tonight!" on stage, and the millions more who will be able to view it on CBS March 6, might argue the point. For Hal Holbrook IS Mark Twain.

"MARK TWAIN TONIGHT" . . . . . with Hal Holbrook in his noted characterization of the great American author and humorist, comes to CBS in a 1½ hour Special, 9:30 to 11 p. m. Eastern Time.

"MARK TWAIN" makes a point as Hal Holbrook, in the role of Twain, brings his noted charcterization to television Monday March 6, 1967 over CBS. Time: 9:30-11 p. m. for the Xerox-sponsored

Duff Still Sam in New Show

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD -- "Anyone for cough syrup, a throat lozenge, nasal spray?" Howard Duff was saying.

They were all in a small, black-zippered bag he had brought to the set to combat a husky voice and a lingering cold. He took two lozenge from the box, popped them into his mouth and then he talked about "good old Sam."

Old Sam—Sam Spade, private eye—was still with him 12 years after he had played the character on a radio series. For reasons still unknown to him, rights to Sam Spade were never offered to television.

But the influence of Sam never left him.

In a TV pilot, The Green Peacock, Duff played a private eye much like Sam but the show didn't sell.

In a TV show that did sell, Duff played a character named Willie Dante, a retired gambler with Sam's private eye flair as a crime buster. The show lasted only one season.

This year Duff is again battling crime as the star of The Felony Squad on ABC-TV.

His character name is—no surprise—Sam Stone.

Duff reached for another lozenge and admitted:

"Yes, there's some of good old Sam in Sam Stone."

Anyone for breaking an image? Not Mr. Duff. But he does look back with fond memories at the series Mr. Adams & Eve in which he co-starred for two years with wife Ida Lupino. It was a comedy Mr. and Mrs. show as you probably remember, and he says, "It was far superior to many comedy shows on TV today. Maybe it was a little too sophisticated for its time but we never thought so."

As the co-star, co-producer and sometimes director of Mr. Adams & Eve, Ida Lupino went on to practically a full-time TV directing career. Last season Duff also turned director, for nine episodes of the Camp Runamuck series. It was, he said, "the hardest work I've ever done in my life."

Sure, he asked wife Ida for some advice on handling the reins.

"The best advice she gave me was about answering questions from the cast and crew. She told me, 'Always give a decisive answer whether you are sure or not.'"

If Felony Squad returns next season — and it's likely — Duff hopes to direct several episodes. Directing himself will be something new for him but he says, "I'l do the show only when my role is lighter than usual.

Will Have Charm for New Season

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The 1967-68 television season will have a more musical lilt, thanks to the sweet-sounding ratings of this season's shows.

The Nielsen rating for the weeks ending Feb. 6 showed Dean Martin as the new leader. Five other shows in the music-comedy-variety class also scored in the top 20: Red Skelton, 3; Jackie Gleason, 5; Ed Sullivan, 7; Smothers Brothers, 18, and Lawrence Welk, 19.

Carol Due Back

CBS is dropping the Danny Kaye Show after four years, but the network is adding two variety shows to its Skelton-Gleason-Sullivan combo. Carol Burnett is coming back with a Monday night hour. The Smothers Brothers, considered by the trade to be a midseason sacrificial offer to the opposition of the "unbeatable" "Bonanza," have surprised everyone by scoring a hit. They will return in the fall.

The smashing success of Dean Martin is credited for NBC's signing of Dino's old partner, Jerry Lewis, for another try at television. The Lewis show is tentatively set for Friday at 8:30. The Kraft Music Hall is returning on a weekly basis with Perry Como expected to alternate with other hosts.

The much-honored but low-rated Bell Telephone Hour will get a chance to show its stuff in prime time on NBC, alternating with news documentaries on Friday night at 10. The network wanted Andy Williams to continue his glossy hour on Sunday nights, but the singer wants to slow to a limited number of specials.

Danny Thomas will be presenting six variety shows as part of his weekly show. Bob Hope will be around for eight, including his 90-minute Christmas show, and Jack Benny will provide two.

As usual, ABC is the least active in the musical field. Lawrence Welk will be back for his 13th season, and the Hollywood Palace will continue. Negotiations for Debbie Reynolds to head up a weekly variety show were unavailing.

Why the trend to music? A top network official offered this explanation:

Explains Trend

"Television has offered too much canned entertainment in recent years. That's why viewers welcome a personality as spontaneous as Dean Martin.

"The musical variety show is ideal for the 9 or 10 o'clock time slot. That's when viewers want to relax and enjoy colorful, diverting entertainment. It's like having the best possible night club show in your own living room — and you don't get stuck with a bill."

STATION BREAK

"I used to have to take a sedative to get to sleep, but, believe me, this thing works twice as fast!"

Just Fine, Dickie

Dick Van Dyke tells a funny story about the time he impersonated Stan Laurel on a television show. Dick called Laurel, a good friend, hoping he would give him some tips. All Laurel said was, "Fine, Dickie. Anything you do will be great with me." After the show, Dick called Laurel again to see if he liked the impersonation. "His reply," Dick said, "was 'Just Fine, Dickie.' But then he kept me on the telephone for 20 minutes telling me about the things I could have done."

A Message to Advertisers!

THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE READ THE WANT ADS EVERY DAY!

Among the large audience there's bound to be somebody who wants the things you have to offer. That person is not going to spend time, effort, money or gasoline to find out details of your proposition UNLESS you have worded your message so that it interests him. A few more words may mean a lot more dollars in your pocket . . . remember that when you place your next advertisement.

The next time you call an ad taker to place a Want Ad in the Daily Freeman, stop and consider this. You are about to spend some money for an advertisement and you want to get the utmost in results. To accomplish this your ad should tell ALL the details about the things you are trying to accomplish. Be sure you don't make any of the following errors that frequently prevent results . . .

DON'T — OMIT THE ADDRESS! Many out of town readers will write you but will not spend money for a long distance call.

DON'T — OMIT THE PHONE NUMBER!

DON'T — USE BLIND BOX NUMBERS! Avoid them at all costs. They are difficult to answer. It is more convenient to phone.

DON'T — LEAVE HOME ON DAYS OTHERS MIGHT ANSWER YOUR AD!

DON'T — OMIT WORDS THAT WOULD TEND TO INCREASE THE NUMBER OF RESPONSES

DON'T — CONCEAL THE PRICE DESIRED! Surveys show that many people will not answer an ad unless the price is given.

DO — GIVE YOUR AD SOME THOUGHT BEFORE CALLING!

DO — RUN YOUR AD MORE THAN ONE DAY! Not all of our readers are home every day. Just the person who wants what you are offering may not see your ad until the 9th or 10th time it runs.

ARTHUR HILL

A Hill With Woolf at Door

By FRANK LANGLEY

NEW YORK — "Is it possible that Walt Disney might have made an acceptable television version of 'Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf'?"

The question was put to Arthur Hill, a gifted actor whose experience included first-hand knowledge of both "Woolf" and Walt Disney.

Hill accepted the query seriously, digested it for a moment, then burst into a roaring laugh. "That's the funniest or looniest thing I've heard all week."

A bit later when the laughter had subsided into continuing chuckles, he conceded that the master showman might have done it. "I don't have the slightest idea of how he might even have begun," he said. "But I do believe that there was nothing on the face of this earth that he could not do, once he'd set his mind to it. Even something as far out as that."

Hill, who starred in the Broadway production of "Virginia Woolf", plays a blind man in the concluding episode on March 19 of "Atta Girl, Kelly," a three-parter about Seeing Eye dogs on Walt Disney's Wonderful World of Color.

The Canadian-born actor is among the most highly-regarded Broadway stars and as such has worked with the best talents in the business. But when he speaks of Disney there is almost a reverence in his voice and a definite affection.

"I called him 'Uncle Walt,'" he said, " because his feeling for me and my work in this role was so genuine that only a blood relation could get so involved.

"The role itself," he continued, "was sort of an acting triple-threat. It posed three separate problems and all of them interconnected.

"First, the character is blind so I had to teach myself the movements of a blind man. Next, this man has had a Seeing Eye dog for years and through it has developed extraordinary confidence. This meant his movements had to be so casual that the audience would hardly know he was handicapped, and yet they could never be allowed to forget it.

"To further complicate matters, the blind man loses his dog, and with him, loses all the confidence and abilities he had achieved over the years."

Hill noted that he had learned a little more about acting through this role and a lot more about relationships between people and animals.

"The most crucial problem they have is not in teaching dogs nor in training people to react with the animal. It's the creation of a bond between the two; an intangible blending of personalities and characteristics that makes the two almost one.

"In many ways, this rule was more demanding than 'Virginia Woolf,'" Hill stated, settling into a more relaxed mood. "But I think the most difficult role I could ever undertake might have been the same role in 'Virginia Woolf,'" as produced for television by Walt Disney.

Fears Height

Steve Strimpell, who does all that flying as Mr. Terrific, admits he suffers from fear of heights, dating back to a childhood fall off a 10-foot diving board. But, method actor that he is, Steve doesn't let this bother him for his flying scenes. "Even though I'm on the end of a wire, I really feel like I'm flying."

In Fog About Peyton Place

BY BILL BYERS

New York — Paul Monash, who avoids crowds and doesn't like to get excited, found his sanctuary in the darkly paneled Oak Room, an exclusive oasis for men in the Plaza Hotel.

He ordered lunch and appeared reluctant to talk about Peyton Place, the ABC-TV nighttime soap opera which generates his well-heeled but not altogther happy life. As its executive producer, he has to escape it now and then.

Monash, here to peddle a couple of new dramatic series, had spent the previous evening seeing Harold Pinter's scathing Broadway drama, "The Homecoming," which makes the trials of Peyton Place seem as pertinent as those of Raggedy Ann's.

"Pinter destroys your pleasure in older forms," said the lean, well-tanned, low-keyed producer who has played a lot of tennis lately in Southern California. "Conventional drama can't succeed today on Broadway can it?"

When asked why the very conventional, sudsy Peyton Place succeeds he answered that after 346 episodes, it keeps changing like the colors in a jukebox. If he and his writers have done anything, they have constantly whetted the appetites of their viewers with new problems and new characters.

"We don't know from one day to the next what is going to happen. At first we drove the network crazy. They wanted a rigid storyline and for us to adhere to it. But is was impossible," said Monash.

"If I knew how long Peyton Place was going to stay on the air perhaps we could have a definite outline. But we may be off the air after next season or we may go on for another five years," he said.

The producer who is taking his first break from the series after three seasons (the set is closed down for a nine week hiatus) did say that none of the leading characters would be written out of the show. All, he said, have their proper value.

But he is worried that two of the main characters, Connie and Elliot are frozen dramatically; that something has to be done about old man Peyton and that a bit of chaos would spur interest into the lives of newlyweds Norman and Rita.

All these problems, he said, will be worked out in time. And as regular Peyton Place viewers know, it may be several months.

Although Monash hasn't grown tired of the series, he is restless to get on with new projects. While in New York he tried to sell ABC on the idea of a new dramatic series about a trial lawyer called "Judd." At CBS-TV headquarters he introduced "Braddock," a series which takes a new look at private eyes.

Neither, he said with a sigh, has the merits of "The Homecoming."

"I just wonder how long it will be before television will accept a play like that," he asked.

Jim Nabors Has Busy Schedule

HOLLYWOOD—The telephone, as they say on Hollywood sound stages, was "running over."

They say this because on sound stages, to keep scenes from being ruined, the telephone bell does not ring.

Instead, silently, a red light flashes on and off.

With the end of the scene for the Gomer Pyle television series, a crewman answered the call. It was for Jim Nabors.

"My business manager," Jim later explained. "We have a grape problem."

The grape problem had come to Jim because of his big success. His business manager had inviested some of the big money he's making into 80 acres of grape vineyards near Palm Springs.

"But," Jim lamented, "the grapes were not doing too well and we had to make a big decision—to plant something else or save the grapes. So now we're going to do some grafting to get what my business manager calls a 'Pearlette grape.'"

In his new affluence Jim recently purchased two big homes, one in San Fernando Valley and another near Palm Springs. The latter, a $140,000 investment, proves that Jim must have the town's greatest business manager.

"We rented it back to the people I bought it from," he grinned.

Just how much money Jim is earning these days only he and his business manager know but this will give you .. rough idea. With the windup of the series for this season, Jim will be off to:

Do two symphony concerts in Mobile and Birmingham, Ala.

Headline for three days as the star of the livestock show at the Astrodome in Houston.

Make three record albums.

Play a starring night club stand for three weeks at Lake Tahoe.

Unlike most series stars, Jim has that big singing voice going for him and his warbling, from pop to show tunes to hillbilly dominate (25 out of 30 minutes) all of his personal appearances.

"I give 'em a little of Gomer when I first come out,' he says, "but lately there has been more and more of Jim. I just talk my natural voice and it isn't too different from Gomer's anyway. We've thought of doing a Gomer Pyle movie but I'm not too sure. When I do a movie I'd rather do a musical and someday I'd even like to do a musical on Broadway.

The home buying spree sounds maybe like Jim is ready to give up his bachelorhood.

He says no. "I'll have three weeks off this summer and that doesn't give me much time to look around. When I'm working on the series I'm so tired I don't even go out on weekends."

Good Chemistry On F Troop

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD — Everybody gets into the fun act on the set of F Troop. Like the other day, which wasn't Larry Storch's day. He was playing a scene with Forrest Tucker and time after time he blew his lines. Not until they were written on an offstage blackboard did he read them correctly.

The director's "Print it" announcement cued Forrest and Ken Berry into wild applause.

That's when the sound man got into the act with the quip: "That's like applauding Arnold Palmer when he shoots a 12."

Big Tuck howled along with the others and then, sitting down between scenes, he pointed to Larry and Ken and said:

"Larry is the funniest actor in the world and Ken is a real genius. I'm their straight man. When people ask me why F Troop clecked, why our ratings continue to climb, my answer is, "Good chemistry between three guys." There's no jealousy, we enjoy what we're doing. It was a lucky break. You can't plan these things. We all fell into a situation in which we can have a ball. No one can be so lucky. I've always been just a working actor. Now I'm an actor having a ball—and at the right price."

The words, he said, also applied to his private life. He and his wife, the former Marilyn Fisk, recently adopted a child, Cynthia, because, he grins:

"I wanted Marilyn to become a mother before she became a grandmother."

His daughter by a previous marriage was expecting at the time.

The words also referred to his pre-F Troop hit on 2,038 performances in the road company of "Music Man." He still does the show on summers off from F Troop.

He steps into the part with little or no rehearsing. As he says, "It's not a question of remembering the lines. It's trying to forget them. When I do the show now I arrive just before curtain time and when the curtain goes up I start talking to the first person I see on stage.

Big Tuck has something else going for him these days. He is vice president and a big stockholder of West Coast Shows, the biggest outdoor carnival-type show west of the Mississippi River. There are nine units with a total of 400 employes and tons of carnival equipment such as the world's only portable roller coaster.

"The carnival," he admits, "is still in me." His first job, at 13, was feeding and watering elephants with a circus. Now, on occasion, he joins a unit of West Coast shows for a few days and surprises people who recognize him as the midway barker.

VALID BLACKOUTS?—I can understand networks pre-empting their regular programs for special news events but do you think it's important to postpone a show to present reports on a politician's operation or a marriage in the family? — Everett Galloway, Bradenton, Fla.

Yes, if it involves a high ranking official such as a President. What happens in the White House or the Pentagon appears to be more important than what happens to Lucy or the Beverly Hillbillies. Such Washington events can effect the nation's course.

REAL RATS — Your column said the heroes of The Rat Patrol were fictional. But have you read V. Cowles' book "Who Dares Wins?" The characters are based on real fighters of the World War II North African campaigns.—Mrs. O. L. Meadows, San Antonio, Tex.

There have been several books about dessert raiders in the war but the ABC-TV series according to Lee Rich, president of Mirisch-Rich Television, its producers, is fictional. Rat Patrol, he says, was inspired by the adventures of "Gunga Din," "Beau Geste" and "Three Feathers."

HIGH TUNE—Who sang in the movie "High Noon" starring Gary Cooper? Was it Tex Ritter or Frankie Laine?—Richard R. Tarnosky, Saginaw, Mich.

Tex did. The film was released in 1952.

He and She

The first new show to be sold to a sponsor, now that CBS-TV has announced its fall line-up, will undoubtedly be He and She. A major ad agency executive has already said it's the one he wants to buy for his client. The series, a comedy, stars Paula Prentiss and Richard Benjamin, two talented comic performers, who happen to be married in real life.

More Hours

Dick Van Dyke says he is working harder now than he did when he had his weekly TV series. "We had the series down to such a science, we worked only four days. Now, going from project to project, I find myself working longer and harder."

PROMOTION OF WOOD products in America may be the result of this traveling exhibition of wood handicraft from Sweden, the U.S. Department of Agriculture is hoping. The department hopes it will stimulate extra interest in wood products and create extra jobs in rural America.

Questions and Answers

SENATORIAL PRIVILEGE — Was Sen. Everett Dirksen actually at The Hollywood Palace when he performed on the show recently?—Pat Malitz, St. Petersburg, Fla.

No. The sequence with the Senator reading excerpts from his "Gallent Men" recording was taped in Washington.

GABLE FAN — How old was Clark Gable when he died?—Lucy Norris, Knoxville, Md.

The actor was 59. He died of a heart attack in 1960.

* * *

EXTRA BROTHER—How does Heath fit in with the Barkleys on The Big Valley? Is he a member of the family or just a stranger living with them?—Sandy Kling, St. Paul, Minn.

Heath is the illegitimate son of the long dead Tom Barkley, father of the clan. When the series began last year the family was a bit skeptical about him. But Victoria has convinced them he belongs. Lee Majors plays Heath.

* * *

END OR RUN—Is The Fugitive based on a true life case?—T. E. Ericksen, Duluth, Minn.

No. Creator Quinn Martin maintains it's fiction. But the ABC-TV series does bare a strong resemblance to the trials and tribulations of Dr. Sam Sheppard, the Cleveland physician, who spent 10 years in prison for killing his wife only to be declared innocent by the court and freed after a second trial. It's expected Dr. Richard Kimble on the series will also have a happy ending when The Fugitive goes off the air. Some say this is its last season.

STAR'S REQUIEM—Did they ever find the body of Eric Fleming, the Rawhide star, who was drowned while on location in South America?—Earl Hutchins, Somerset Center, Mich.

Yes. His body was returned to Los Angeles where it was buried.

WELCOMING HER NIECE to Hollywood is veteran actress Katharine Hepburn, left, showing young actress Katharine Houghton around the Columbia Studios. Young Katharine will make her film debut in "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner," in which she plays her aunt's screen daughter. Actually, she's the daughter of Miss Hepburn's younger sister.

How to Be Young Actor

By BILL BYERS

NEW YORK — There are two sides of Tom Courtenay, the youthful British actor, and he thinks, unfortunately, Americans have seen only one.

Through his film roles from "Billy Liar" to the current "The Night of the Generals," Courtenay has become known in this country as an expert in portraying intense young men, angry at the status quo whether it's England's, Russia's or Nazi Germany's.

Television, he thinks, is ready to change all this.

While here to lend a little glamor to the premier of "Generals" (a promotion stint which he finds "necessary nonsense") the actor told about plans to film that old comedy chestnut, "Charley's Aunt," for British and American TV audiences.

He will star in it, of course, playing the central role of an Oxford student. An older actor—and "let's hope he's not twittery or peculiar," says Courtenay — will play the masquerading "Aunt."

As soon as the casting is complete, the Victorian comedy will be filmed in England for release to the BBC, and then sold to a network in the U. S.

Countenay said he had "a jolly good time" with the play in a three week production recently at the Century Theatre in Manchester. He took no salary for his participation.

"I earn enough from films. So why should I ask a 300-seat theater to pay me, too?" said the actor.

Like many British actors, and so few American ones, Countenay when not busy in a motion picture, always goes back to the theater, his first love. He especially likes repertory and finds it easy to go from Shakespeare to "Charley's Aunt."

His pet is the Century Theatre where he feels a great deal of freedom and the lack of commercial pressure. The thought of being under a long film contract or doing a weekly television series horrifies him.

"I'm very ambitious. I like the money films and TV pay. I've liked most of the roles I've had. But I'm very proper, too. You can only get proper acting training from the stage," he says.

Courtenay gets especially annoyed playing opposite "young twits" (his phrase for starlets who haven't had proper or much stage experience.

"It's hard to take those pretty, young things seriously after you have performed with Edith Evans. She can really thesp," he said.

Movie-goers might note that his next leading lady is not Dame Edith but Mia Farrow, once the darling of Peyton Place. They will be seen in "Danny in Aspic."

TOM COURTENAY

After that he hopes "Charley's Aunt," with no pretty, young things will display his comic side.

Never Ambitious

Even after her tremendous success as Samantha on Bewitched, actress Elizabeth Montgomery is still asked if her famous father Robert Montgomery, the actor and director, was responsible. She quickly admits he gave her the first break on his old dramatic TV series. "But I was never ambitious," she says. "Truly ambitions people can't be honestly happy. I've been lucky. If I had to pound the sidewalks like an unknown it would have been a blast to my ego. I would have given up acting and become a lion tamer. It would have been easier.

Silvers Skepitcal

Phil Silvers, once so popular as Bilko, is skeptical about his proposed situation comedy series for next season on CBS-TV. "Today if you don't get an audience in five weeks, you're dead," says the comedian who will return playing a Bel Air policeman. Reason for his comeback is that Silvers doesn't like to think of himself as an elder statesman on TV. He also enjoys working. "Besides, I've got five kids to support," he says.

Yes, Yes Nanette . . .

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD — Nanette Fabray ordered tomato juice and a sweet roll and announced, "This is my THIRD breakfast today."

It was only 11 a. m. but she had been up since 6:30 "catching up with the housework, setting out some bulbs in the garden and going to market.

She had a 1 p. m. luncheon date and more appointments in the afternoon. "A normal busy day," she smiled.

It was a day far less hectic than one she had experienced recently, however.

"That was utter unreality," she reported.

It started, she said, with a morning on the MGM back lot behind the wheel of a Go-Kart for a sequence in The Man From U.N.C.L.E. In a rare departure for Nanette, she plays a heavy in the show. "I think," she laughed, "that they were surprised when I accepted the part —as surprised as I was that they would offer it to me."

Well, anyway, on the day in question she completed her piloting of the Go-Kart by noon and then, with backlot dust in her hair, she rushed over to NBC-TV to sign a contract to appear April 2nd on Theatre of the Deaf documentary. The show is on how the deaf are learning to act and to dance by new training methods which enable them to "see" sounds.

Then, with the dust still in her hair, she joined Big Crosby and Red Buttons for the taping of a burlesque sketch for still another TV show, Hollywood Palace.

"The show's hairdresser couldn't believe my hair," she said. "We had to wash it twice before the taping."

It's a funny thing about Nanette Fabray and television these days.

"People," she said, "keep telling me that they miss me on television. My answer to them is, 'I'm on television all the time but not regularly.'"

Her recent straight role, as an anti-U.N.C.L.E. Frenchwoman in the MGM series, brought back an old memory to Nanette with the explanation, "This is a perfect clue to me."

At 18, and gorgeous, she was a starlet at Warner Bros. where Ann Sheridan was the reigning queen. When the studio photographed Ann in a silver lame gown reclining on a couch for a national magazine, Nanette had an idea.

"I put on the same gown and in the same pose under the same lights and on the same couch I had my photograph taken. Well, everybody fell down laughing when they saw the pictures. I was really serious about it. But even today, when people see the pictures, they fall down laughing.

"I guess it's because I enjoy myself so much, because I see something funny in everything. I've read straight lines seriously and directors laugh and say, 'Don't do that.' I ask them, 'Don't do what?' Really, I don't know why people laugh when I'm serious."

A BROKEN FOOT suffered during practice may have changed the cheerleading style somewhat for Linda Joyce, 19, of Northwestern University at Evanston, Ill., but it didn't keep her out of action. It even added color to her outfit, after she covered the cast with strips to match her sweater.

Face Lifting

Tallulah Bankhead, playing a guest villainess called The Black Widow on Batman, tells about making her first film in Hollywood. She was told that Shirley Temple was photographed with gauze over the camera lens to give her a younger look. Tallulah's reaction to this was, "Well than, darlings, you had better photograph me with a piece of linoleum over the lens."

Drive-Out Movie

Bob Denver says he saw a made-for-TV movie that was so bad the only bookings it could get were drive-out theaters.

Rates Stage 67 Off-Beat Video Musical Approach

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — ABC's "Stage 67" demonstrated Thursday night that a good song, even if it is 40 years old, can survive handsomely through musical fads, fancies and changes of beat.

The program, "Rodgers and Hart Today" was a series of production numbers built around the enormous output of composer Richard Rodgers during the period between 1925 and 1943 when he collaborated with the equally gifted lyrics writer Lorenz Hart on a string of hit Broadway musicals and films.

No Stellar Host

It was, for a number of reasons, an off-beat TV approach to a musical hour. There was no stellar host to introduce the numbers and performers.

A lot of young people, many not even born when Rodgers and Hart were turning out songs like "The Lady Is a Tramp," "Manhattan," "My Heart Stood Still," "Blue Moon," and "Mountain Greenery" — appeared on stage dressed in op-art mini dresses, blue jeans and some in conventional clothes.

The settings, too, were highly contemporary — ablaze with clashing colors, and broken by big bold chunks of masonry.

If one were to quibble, it would be to enter a mild complaint that in the enthusiasm for creating drama and excitement by the use of color, more than 80 per cent of the viewers are being short-changed.

The most recent estimates put the number of homes with color television at around 10 million, or 17 per cent of the total.

'Secret' Fading

"I've Got a Secret" will wind up 15 years on CBS with its March 27 program. The following week, "Password" will be expanded to include a nighttime edition as its summer replacement.

Jack Paar apparently enjoyed playing host on this season's "The Kennedy Wit" so much he agreed to a second show. He will appear in NBC's "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to Hollywood," on May 14.

Recommended weekend viewing:

Saturday — "Winchester 73," NBC, 9-11 p.m. EST, new movie with Dan Durvea and Joan Blondell.

Sunday — "Good Day," NBC, 4-5 p.m., original drama in the "Experiment in TV," series, with Jo Van Fleet; "Rabbit Hill," NBC, 6:30-7:30, all-animal story with human voices in the "Children's Theatre" series; "Porgy and Bess," ABC, 9-11, rerun of film based on the Gershwin musical.

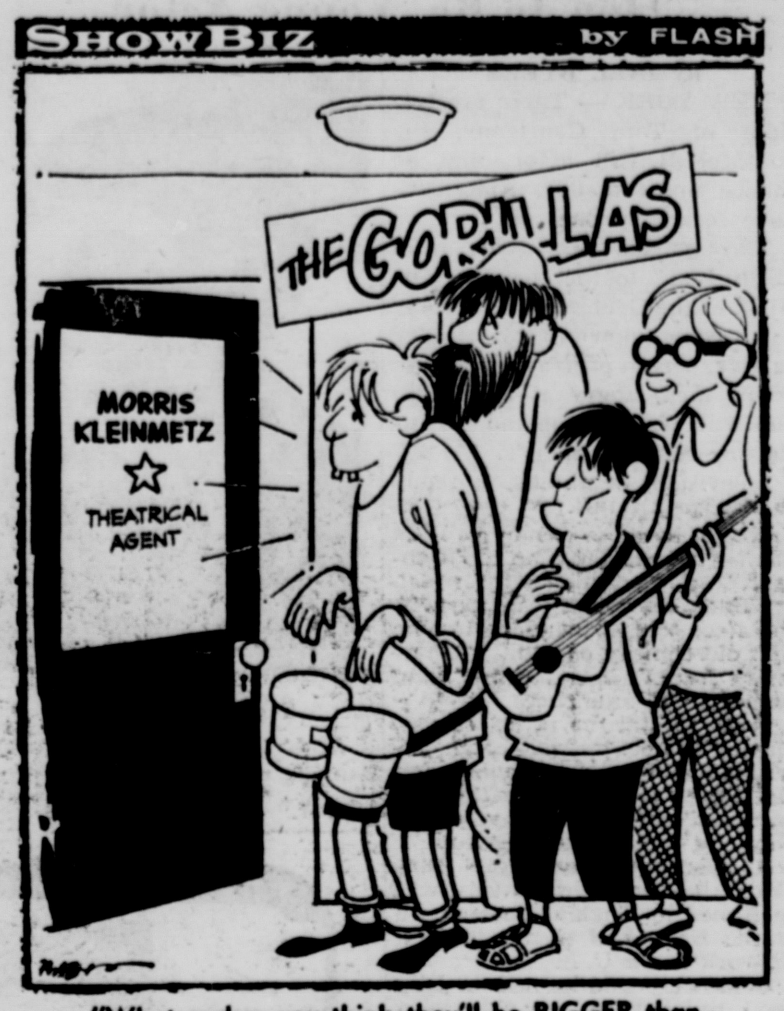

In Shakespeare

STRATFORD, Ontario (AP)—Featured performers in the 15th annual Shakespeare Festival here next summer will include Zoe Caldwell, Christopher Plummer and Alan Bates. Miss Caldwell and Plummer are set for "Antony and Cleopatra," the premiere of which has been postponed from June 12 to July 31. Replacing it as the opening production will be "Richard III" with Bates in the title role.

STATION BREAK

"What makes you think they'll be BIGGER than 'The Monkees'?"

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "They're killin' Marshal Dillon" — so announced the headline in the Hollywood Reporter, and the news was received with disbelief.

The television trade couldn't imagine that CBS would knock "Gunsmoke" off the 1967-68 schedule after a dozen highly successful years. The show had ranked No. 1 in the ratings for several seasons and has seldom been out of the top 30; the recent Nielsen placed it No. 26.

"Gunsmoke" may well be the most profitable series from any network. Only in recent years did the network begin sharing profits with the star, Jim Arness.

Then why would CBS send "Gunsmoke" off into the sunset?

No Explanation

"We don't know," said producer John Mantley. "We were already in the process of preparing scripts for next season when the news broke. Of course nothing is certain in television, but the show had been holding up very well in the ratings, dipping slightly when NBC put a good movie opposite us."

I asked a high official of CBS in New York for the network's reasoning in dropping "Gunsmoke."

His explanation: "Our programming people felt that after 12 years on the network "Gunsmoke' was suffering what they called 'program fatigue.' Virtually all the possibilities for plot development had been exhausted, and it was felt that the time slot needed something new."

Plan Detective Series

The "something new" will be a show from Desilu called "Mannix." Mike Connors will star as a detective who uses his own instincts rather than resorting to computers.

Could "Gunsmoke" have overcome "program fatigue" and galloped on for more seasons?

"I think so," commented Norman MacDonnell, who with John Meston created the series and produced its first 10 years in television. "The show had gone through a number of phases, and each time it came out successfully. I almost believe it could have kept running indefinitely."

Chimp From U.N.C.L.E.

Daktari keeps beating The Girl From U.N.C.L.E. in the ratings, which made one Hollywood wag suggest the CBS-TV series should be called The Chimp From U.N.C.L.E.
